

LET BRIDGE CONTRACTS
IN SEVERAL CO. TOWNS

The County Highway Committee, in co-operation with County Highway Commissioner Amundson, let several bridge contracts on Wood County highways on Monday, when they made a trip to several of the county towns where bids were being taken. Fred Bussert took the contract for three concrete bridges in the town of Sherry, the total contract amounting to about $3,600. He was also awarded the contract for three culverts in Hansen, this contract involving $3,300. In Auburn, a contract for about a mile of grading and three culverts was awarded to Ole Sivertson, the total amounting to about $340. Four culverts in the town of Hiles went to E. Stein for $600.

The county committee with Commissioner Amundson started out early Monday morning, going to Vesper to let contracts there but no one showed up to bid. Going on to Auburn, they let their contract and proceeded to Marshfield where they had dinner. Returning to Hiles they had a meeting at three o'clock where they let some contracts.

A three-quarter mile stretch of macadam in Sigel has been completed and another stretch on the Sigel road is being taken care of. This will utilize some stone which was hauled in there about a year or two ago. Mr. Amundson stated that while everyone was pretty dubious about the results of building a macadam road he explains that in Sigel, where it is necessary to put in a good foundation for any road, the macadam will last for some time and when it is worn out it will afford a good foundation for concrete. If there must be some heavy and springing it is better to have it happen with macadam, the county highway commissioner explains.

LARGE CROWD HEARS UNION MEN DISCUSS THE STRIKE

A large crowd, representing the labor unions pretty well and including quite a number of citizens who are interested in the Nekosha-Edwards strike, gathered at the Armory Tuesday evening to hear laborists at the present time at Port Edwards and Nekosha.

Geo. P. Schneider, of Appleton, who organized the balance of the unions in this city, was the principal speaker. He stated that the company is trying to starve the men into submission by forcing them from their homes, and presented figures which gave the profits earned by the Nekosha-Edwards company for the purpose of showing that they could well afford to grant the men the increase in wages and the shorter hours they are asking.

Mr. Schneider told his audience how the young men of Port Edwards had left their homes, the positions with the company and their friends, to go to war for this country and the profits which the company owns. He pictured these same young men returning home only to find that they had been turned out.

Mr. Schneider outlined the history of the company, how the man had been faithful to the firm, how for many years they had worked long hours with but little remuneration. He spoke of the increased costs of living at this time and how it was necessary for a man to earn more at the present time than he had to earn a few years ago.

While the company objected to the men being organized, Mr. Schneider said, the company is a member of the Western Paper Manufacturers' association, which he stated they use for their interests as a union would protect the men. He told of a representative of this association being sent here to break this strike and how he had failed.

Mr. Schneider stated that the men did not want any violence and that the pickets established were for the purpose of preventing things which might be blamed on the strikers.

HAD SMALL FIRE

The fire departments of both the east and west sides were called out Sunday evening when sparks from the chimney on the Dixon Hotel ignited the structure above. The flames were put out without any trouble and outside of a small hole burned in the roof the damage did not amount to much.

STEVENS POINT WINS GAME WITH GRAND RAPIDS SUNDAY

The Stevens Point base ball team took a loosely placed game from the Grand Rapids nine last Sunday afternoon at the South Side park, the final score being 9 to 4.

The visitors started right out in the opening inning, scoring three runs. The Stevens Pointers hit rather freely in this period, and aided by a few errors secured enough runs to win an ordinary game. Grand Rapids, however, came back in their portion of the third and ran in three runs, tying the score.

In the fifth the visitors scored four more runs, and again in the eighth brought in two, bringing their portion of the scores up to nine. Grand Rapids brought in a run in the seventh, completing their efforts to cross the home plate.

Chapman pitched for the local organization, fanning ten of the visitors, and holding up his end of the game in good shape. Rather weak support combined with frequent errors, however, made it impossible to check the visiting team. Eagleberger was on the mound for Stevens Point and pitched a good game.

FRACTURED HIS HIP

Christ Anderson, of the town of Monroe, who resides about two miles from Monroe Center, was brought to the hospital in this city Tuesday, suffering from a fractured hip. Mr. Anderson had been unloading hay the day previous and had been on the wagon. The fork came down and picked up the front end of the load. Mr. Anderson expected the load to separate in the middle and leave the rear half for him to stand on. Instead of doing this the entire load was picked up by the fork, throwing him onto the barn floor, a distance of about twelve feet. He is getting along nicely now.

BUY VESPER BRICK CO.

The Vesper Clay Products Co. have purchased of Margatroyd Bros., their brick yard at Vesper and within a short time expect to have things in operation up there making brick and tile. President C. A. Perry, of the Clay Products Co., states that there will be several improvements made in the plant and that the Margatroyd Bros. will remain with the company, being thoroughly versed in the manufacture of clay products.

GETTING PROGRAM
READY FOR WELCOME

The General Committee in charge of the Soldiers Welcome, for the southern half of Wood County, have been in session several times during the past week and are getting things pretty well lined up for the big event which will occur July 10th and 11th. The first thing the committee want to impress upon the people is that they should set these days aside right now, mark them on the calendar, tie a string around your finger, or use some other effective method to remember that you will be busy in Grand Rapids those two days and other things will have to be laid aside for the occasion.

One of the big features that will attract many to the city and will assure the people of plenty of music is the fact that there will be three or four bands here for the big days. The affair is not going to be just a band concert, however, there will be pavement dances both nights of the celebration, free exhibition by high class vaudeville troupes, parades, baseball games, water events, athletic contests, in fact everything will be made to make up a real live celebration. The committee claim that the events they already have scheduled can't be pulled off in the two day limit that has been set on the affair but they promise a steady stream of excitement and will keep the entertainers busy amusing the crowds. A complete program of the two big days is promised as soon as the bookings are completed.

A parade which the merchants and others are already getting ready to participate in promises to be an attractive feature, it being several years since a real parade with attractive floats and decorated autos and trucks have taken a part in it. Large columns erected in different parts of the city, decorations and other features promise to make the city especially attractive to the visitors.

SERIOUSLY ILL

Ex. County Treasurer P. H. Bean of the town of Hansen is seriously ill at the hospital at Waupun with bladder trouble, having underwent an operation on Tuesday. Mr. Bean is 78 years of age. His sons, Arthur and Herb Bean of Vesper and daughter, Mrs. F. H. Otto of this city have been with him the past week.

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED FOR FEDERATED CLUBS

Mrs. Geo. W. Mead has been elected president of the Federation, other officers being:

First Vice Pres.—Mrs. Nan Schlatter.

Second Vice Pres.—Mrs. John Arpin.

Treas.—Mrs. Will Chambers.

Sec.—Mrs. Katherine Fisher.

The general plan of the Federation for carrying on their annual work has been changed for this year, and instead of the Federation carrying out the work they have been carrying out in the past, this has been transferred to individual clubs. The Relief work which the Federation has conducted in the future will be taken care of by the Tuesday Club. The Womens Club will conduct the school work the Art work will be carried out by the Beacon Lights. Civic work in Grand Rapids will be carried on by the Travel Class and Historical Club while Public Health and Recreation in the future will be in charge of the Entre Nous.

The new plan under which the club will work is expected to be more satisfactory than the former one, each organization having definite work to carry out.

GEO. L. WILLIAMS
DIED FRIDAY NIGHT

Atty. Geo. L. Williams, one of the oldest members of the Wood County bar, passed away at his home on Third street Friday night, death having come suddenly it not being known until the following morning, when an attempt was made to awaken him. Mr. Williams had retired in his usual health, and while he had been suffering from rheumatism for a number of years past which caused him considerable pain and inconvenience right along, he had not spoken of anything unusual that evening. The family were given no intimation of his passing away and the shock of finding his lifeless body the following morning was a severe one.

Mr. Williams was born in New York in 1848, having been the son of a New York farmer. He spent his early life in the rural sections of the eastern state, coming to Wisconsin when he was seven years of age. His parents settled at Whitewater, Wis., where he resided until he was a young man. He received his early education in the schools of the southern part of Wisconsin, being a student of exceptional ability. Being an ambitious young man Mr. Williams determined to get a University education, and was enrolled in Lawrence college. Here he received the foundation of his education in law, but later a lifelong practice in his field and diligent study brought him into a position where he held the respect and esteem of his fellow attorneys and his wide acquaintance.

After leaving the university Mr. Williams entered the employ of the government as railway mail clerk, having a run in the eastern part of the state for a number of years. During this time, however, he did not forget the strides he had taken toward a success as a lawyer, and his evenings were spent in the office of Judge Turner, where he was given access to the Judge's law library. Two years after completing his college work and after being employed with the government for a period of two years, he took the bar examination and was admitted to the bar in 1875.

He came to Grand Rapids a short time later and in his earlier years was one of the progressive and active young men of the community. He has held many of the leading public offices of Wood County, served on the County Board, been County Superintendent of School, District Attorney for Wood County, Mayor of Grand Rapids, and aided as a public spirited citizen and official in many capacities.

He was united in marriage to Miss Edith West of Appleton, who with two daughters, Mrs. Fern Arpin of Minneapolis and Mrs. M. H. Quinn of Superior, and one son, Atty. Glenn Williams, of Ladysmith survive him. Mr. Williams spent the greater part of his career in this city, although with his family he resided in Milwaukee for some time, returning here.

The funeral services were held at the house on Third street Monday evening by John Fable, of Lake Mills, Wis., conducting the services. Mr. Fable was a former schoolmate and old friend of the deceased. The remains were shipped to Milwaukee that evening, for cremation. The members of the Elks lodge, of which organization Atty. Williams was a member, attended the services Monday evening in a body.

OPENS NEW GARAGE HERE

Oscar C. Leidholt, formerly of this city but later of Detroit, Mich., has opened up a garage and automobile agency in the frame building next to the Henke store on Second street north, and is selling the Columbia Six car, having taken the agency for this territory. Mr. Leidholt is a home boy, having been born here and lived the early part of his life in this city. Later he went to Detroit where he entered the automobile business, having been engaged in this work for the past ten years.

BLODGETT WILL RETIRE

C. E. Blodgett, the Marshfield capitalist, has announced that the wholesale grocery business in that city which he has conducted for several years past, will cease to operate this fall and the building will be utilized for the cheese and egg business he has built up around the central part of the state. He expects to spend the coming winter in California, leaving the management of the cheese business to his son, Guy. E. Blodgett.

PARIS GREEN KILLS
AGED FARM WORKER

James Gow, an aged farm hand employed on the Comer farm in the town of Richfield, died Tuesday morning after eating a quantity of Paris green, it being evident to the authorities that investigated the case that his intention was deliberate suicide. The man had swallowed the poison during the night and when found was in such a serious condition that he died before medical aid could be secured.

Mr. Gow was a native of Scotland, having come to this country many years ago with Alfred Ahms, a resident of that community. He had worked for Mr. Ahms for a number of years and helped different farmers to do their work. Later he went to Paris, Falls where he spent several years, returning to Wood County about three years ago. Since that time he has made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Comer, the latter being a daughter of Mr. Ahms.

Mr. Comer did not have a great deal of extra work about the farm which he could not take care of himself and as there were a number of other farmers in that community who needed help, he suggested to Mr. Gow Sunday that he get a job with one of the other farmers, giving him a five dollar bill and some clothing. Mr. Gow seemed to agree to this but said nothing more about it. Monday night he retired as usual and the family heard him moving about in his room a good deal, but that nothing of that as the man was in the habit of being up a good deal and often got up and smoked during the night. About five o'clock the family heard a rather heavy thud and going to Mr. Gow's room found him on the floor, evidently in great pain. He was asked if he was sick but replied that it was nothing serious and urged that they pay no attention to him, requesting also that they would not call a doctor. Christ Bode, another employee and Mr. Comer, decided that medical assistance was needed and after going to a neighbors they secured Dr. Moffet, of Arpin.

Before the doctor could get there the man had passed away, however, death coming from eating Paris green, which it was later discovered he had secured from another room where it was kept. District Attorney Frank Calkins was called in on the case and after an investigation made by himself and Sheriff Bluet, it was determined that there was nothing mysterious about the matter, and that the old man had preferred to die than to go out and start in again. The five dollar bill he had been given was found in his possession and he had a quantity of clothing in a trunk at the house.

The burial will be made in the town of Richfield.

LIKED SILK STOCKINGS

Dora Herms, who was formerly employed by Dr. F. X. Pomainville, was taken before Judge Pomainville Wednesday afternoon charged with stealing a number of articles of clothing from the doctor's home while employed there, and also taking a sum of $12 in money. The young lady, who is seventeen years of age, denied her guilt and the case was adjourned for a week. Among the things listed as having disappeared were a series of silk stockings, which the person was taking the case, evidently having a special fondness for them. Three silk shirt waists which Mrs. Pomainville had found wrapped up ready to be mailed to Miss Herms parents, the young lady denied to be stolen, saying that she found them in a rag bag.

HAVE CHAMPION BRICK LAYER

Wisconsin's champion brick layer, a native of our city at that, has been keeping the boys busy carrying brick for the Grand Avenue paving busy this week. The champion is Louis Barrett, who is a resident of this city but who has been laying brick in many of the metropolitan cities in recent years. Mr. Barrett holds a high record of laying 42,000 brick in one day, and one time laid 35,000 every day for four consecutive days. At the present time he is keeping eleven men busy carrying brick to him on the Grand Avenue job and has a crowd of curious onlookers watching the performance.

SHORT OF MATERIALS

The paving on the west side has been going along in nice shape since the big concrete mixer was started last week, but a lack of paving materials threaten to tie up the crew unless shipments come in a little faster. Engineer Thompson states that they have been having considerable trouble in getting Lohrville stone, the quarries having labor and other troubles which have limited their output. Should the shipments of stone arrive satisfactorily, however, the work will be cleaned up in record time.

OPENS PORTION OF NEW ROAD

A portion of the new concrete road on the South Side will be opened to traffic this week, the city having prepared the approach to the concrete from the detour at the creek onto the new road the first of the week. The work of cleaning the dirt off the new concrete work was started Tuesday and it will be ready to drive on within a few days. This will add a nice stretch of concrete to the Nekosha drive and will save the detour down near the river, which was quite rough.

GIVEN SIXTY DAYS

District Attorney Frank Calkins was called to Milladore Tuesday to appear for the state against Chas. Itab, who was charged with improper conduct. The case came up before Judge Koehler, at Milladore, who gave the man sixty days in jail here.

FARMERS ELECT OFFICERS FOR FEDERAL LOAN ASS'N.

A good representation of the farmers of the county met at the City Hall in this city last Thursday when they organized the Federal Farm Loan Association for Wood County, electing the following officers:

President.—Peter Condo.

Vice Pres.—W. B. Rocheleau.

Sec.—Treas.—C. E. Boles.

The Board of Directors includes Peter Condo, W. B. Rocheleau, David E. Taylor, O. J. Rocheleau and Albert Emerson.

The new association will be a permanent one and has started out on a solid foundation with every prospect of taking care of this sort of work in good shape.

PLAN CITY CLEANUP
FOR WELCOME DAYS

A general cleanup of Grand Rapids including a paint up and general improvement campaign to make the city look as presentable as possible to the visiting soldiers, sailors and marines and their families, on July 30 and 31st, has been launched by the Womens Club, the City Health Officer, and the City Officials. The plan is one which means a great improvement in the general appearance of the residence as well as the business districts. Buildings which have not received the proper attention during the past few years will receive a new coat of paint, yards will be cleaned up for the occasion and Grand Rapids will assume an appearance that will make the visitors feel they are in a clean alive city.

The Committees of women who are in charge of the campaign are: Ads and Billboards—Mrs. Wm. Kellogg, Mrs. L. A. DeGuere and Miss Ella Hasbrouck.

West Side Committee—Mrs. R. F. Johnson, Mrs. C. E. Boles and Mrs. Guy Nash.

General Clean Up Committee for First and Second Wards—The Historical and Literary Clubs.

Third Ward—Mrs. P. C. Daly and Mrs. Ray Mead.

Fourth Ward—Mrs. Guy Nash, Mrs. L. A. DeGuere and Mrs. I. E. Phillos.

Down Town District—Mrs. Geo. W. Mead, Mrs. Wm. Kellogg and Mrs. C. E. Boles.

Fifth and Sixth Wards—Mrs. F. MacKinnon, Mrs. Johannes Rockstroh and Miss Hasbrouck.

Seventh and Eighth Wards—Mrs. R. F. Johnson and Mrs. L. P. Wittor.

Feeling that the war has held back many minor improvements which should have been made during the past year, that labor scarcity has prevented some improvements which would have been made, and that the general feeling that prices for improving materials would take a radical drop at the declaration of peace, the women and city officials back of the Cleanup movement have every hope for complete success.

The war is over, peace has been signed and instead of materials taking a drop the inclination has been upward. Labor is more plentiful that it has been in the past two years and every progressive organization is making those delayed improvements now. It is expected that with the present object in view more improvements will be made now if the need of them is suggested to property owners. The organized committees will take charge of the matter in the wards and business districts, and will make suggestions for attractive appearance can be made they will be suggested to the property owners.

The paving on Grand Avenue will be cleaned up by the time the welcome celebration is staged and it is hoped that the city will look attractive enough so that the boys who come and visit their friends will take home a favorable impression with them. Old residents are also coming to witness the celebration and gather with their friends and with the movement under way it is planned that they may be agreeably surprised with the industry and progressiveness of the people here.

It is the desire of the women in charge of the campaign that the publicity given the matter will be a sufficient inspiration to the residents and property owners to take the matter in their own hands and clean up their buildings and property. However, they are going to go over the grounds and in cases where no effort is made to make things look more presentable the matter will be taken up with the property owners. A special committee in charge of the advertising and sign board proposition will attempt to standardize this matter to some extent if possible. The women state that they do not object to the board where they are put up for a permanent thing and properly constructed, but want to discourage the practice of putting up everywhere a foot or two of space is available. They would eliminate the painting of large signs on the sides of buildings and will endeavor to have much of the small advertising matter which now adorns the sides of the buildings removed.

The removal of all garbage, waste materials which have not been utilized in building, and other materials of a similar nature will be taken up, the city officials having promised to co-operate with the women in having the wagons pick up all this material. There is probably not another city in Wisconsin that has any better natural beauty spots within their city to offer the visitors, and its commendable that the residents should take sufficient interest to make their own property attractive.

IS SERIOUSLY ILL

Mrs. Ray Love, who was operated on last week for appendicitis, has been seriously ill at the hospital for several days, being in a critical condition both Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Everything possible is being done for her and her many friends will hope for rapid recovery.

Harold Nelson of Waupaca, underwent an operation for appendicitis at Riverview hospital last Friday, his uncle, Dr. Mortenson being the surgeon.

GUARDS WILL CAMP
EARLY NEXT MONTH

An order received by Capt. Hornechob, commander of Co. K, Ninth Regiment, Wisconsin State Guards, calls the local company to camp at Camp Douglas August 2-8th, for the annual state encampment. A program which is considerably more interesting than has been arranged previously is being sent out to the company commanders, and the present indications are that the local company will go down recruited fully up to war strength. Basic drill, tournaments, field days, pay for the men while at camp, and a host of other features which have been left out of the previous encampments are included on the program for 1919 and the boys are getting the muskets cleaned up with the intention of going down and holding up their past reputation.

Probably one of the most attractive features that the state is putting up this year is the fact that they are paying the men while they attend the encampment. This is something new as on previous occasions the men not only had to pay for their own transportation while they were away from home, but received nothing for going to camp. This year the privates will draw $2.00 a day, corporals $2.25, sergeants $2.50 and first sergeants $2.75. This is in addition to all expenses and means that much money clear, which is not bad when it is considered that the encampment is a vacation and outing for the men as well. The long evenings make it possible to carry on many athletic activities after supper this year, and it is planned to stage several base ball games, to determine the championship of the regiments and companies at the encampment this year. A special field when there will be tug of war, and similar athletic contests staged between the different organizations, has been set aside and promises to offer a new interest to the men at the big gathering. The entire affair this year seems to have been arranged to make it more entertaining to the men going down.

The regiments will have another chance this year to try their skill on the rifle range and the boys are all anxious to go down and pull down first place again. They have had record work down there last year and the expectations are that unless some of the other companies of the state have been putting in considerable practice they will cop off the honors again.

General King, who inspected the company here last winter, will again be in command of the camp, which assures the men that they will have a man in charge of them that is thoroughly military, one who has gone thru the game himself in every phase of it, and who understands what is expected of a military organization.

FRIEDSTEIN AND ANDERSON
OPEN NEW CLOTHING STORE

Meyer Friedstein and Ernest Anderson, both of this city are drawing up incorporation papers preparatory to opening a new clothing store on the west side, in the new building which is under erection next to the Gottschalk & Anderson Grocery Store on Grand Avenue. The store building will be completed this fall and the new store will be opened as soon after that as the fixtures and interior can be furnished. The present plans are to be open for fall trade this year. Both Mr. Friedstein and Mr. Anderson are well known in this city, Mr. Friedstein being proprietor of the Friedstein, Inc., clothing store on the east side. Mr. Anderson was employed in the Citizens' National Bank for a number of years and for some time past has been with the Nekosha State bank. The business principles of the men are unquestionable and the new firm should enjoy every success.

HELD ROTARY LUNCHEON

The Rotary Club held their regular luncheon at the Congregational church Tuesday noon, the speakers being B. R. Goggins and Geo. P. Hambrecht, chairman of the Industrial Commission, Madison, Mr. Goggins gave a very interesting address on the ideas of citizenship, stating that an American had to be an American, scored the ideas of having Little Italy's and Little Palestines, where people from another country settle and live on the benefits of this country without becoming good American citizens. Mr. Hambrecht gave a very interesting address on Rotary spirit in which he told the members of the local club what the Rotary Club stood for and the way it was accomplishing things.

ARRESTING BIKE RIDERS

About fifteen bicycle riders have been arrested during the past week for riding on the sidewalks, and the police have launched a campaign to rid Grand Rapids of this nuisance. The next victims, the authorities state, will be the automobile speeders who have a habit of tearing up the residence streets late at night with their cutouts open. The police are going after them and those who have a habit of this practice would do well to look over the grounds carefully, before stepping on her next time.

FARMERS HAD GOOD SESSION AT HANGOCK

On July 2nd a very successful meeting was held at the Hancock Experiment Station. The meeting was in charge of Professor Ullsperger who is responsible in the main for the good work that has been carried on at this station. The farm which makes up the station was given to the state of Wisconsin three years ago by the citizens of Hancock and the surrounding community to be used for experimental purposes. At this time the farm was run down as may be seen by parts of it which have been left in their original condition. The rest of the farm is divided up into fields and plots showing the results of modern methods of cultivation, rotation, and proper use of fertilizers.

We visited and examined a rye field on the untreated part of the farm. It would probably yield from three to five bushels per acre. It was typical sand rye. Adjoining this on similar land was a crop of rye that had been grown on land that had received proper treatment. This piece of rye would yield about twenty bushels or better.

Mr. Ullsperger has a very accurate set of accounts of each field, showing the cost of fertilizer, seed, etc. Practically every field has been improved in fertility and at the same time has been showing actual profit in crop production, not to mention the increased possibilities for profit, now that the fertility has been built up to a considerable extent. All over the farm there are striking examples of what can be done on a sand farm in so short a period as three years by proper methods. A large outlay of cash is not necessary.

At this meeting there was a large attendance of interested farmers, business men, and county agents. There was a good representation from this community. Some of those who were in attendance from here are Ralph Wagers, J. B. Taylor, Lloyd Mathis and wife, Peter Weber with his wife and son, and Technican Brothers from Elron.

There will be another meeting some time the latter part of August. At this time most of the crops will have matured or will be nearing maturity and will then show to better advantage the results from cultivation, rotation, and fertilization. I believe at this time it would be worth the time of every farmer who is farming the light soils of Wood County to take the day off and go to this meeting. An effort will be made to organize an excursion to Hancock.

W. W. Clark, County Agent.

The cement work on Grand Avenue has been going along in good shape since the big concrete mixer was started last week, the result being with favorable weather the paving will be finished fully as soon as the estimate made by City Engineer Thompson in last week's Tribune, and should the weather remain fair, the work will probably be completed ahead of schedule. The laying of the brick on the Grand Avenue paving was started on Monday.

MRS. ED. SMITH INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE COLLISION

Mrs. Ed. Smith was quite badly bruised and cut about the head last Thursday night when the car in which she was riding with her husband was struck by a car driven by Ed. Brazeau, of Nekeosa. The collision occurred at the Commercial Hotel corner. Mr. Smith was driving onto First avenue and had almost made the turn when the Brazeau car struck the side of his machine. The impact slid the Smith car several feet and threw Mrs. Smith against the top, cutting her forehead and bruising her nose. The cars were both damaged somewhat, although the other occupants of the machines suffered no injuries.

FARMERS HAD GOOD SESSION AT HANCOCK

On July 2nd a very successful meeting was held at the Hancock Experiment Station. The meeting was in charge of Professor Ullsperger who is responsible in the main for the good work that has been carried on at this station. The farm which makes up the station was given to the state of Wisconsin three years ago by the citizens of Hancock and the surrounding community to be used for experimental purposes. At this time the farm was run down as may be seen by parts of it which have been left in their original condition. The rest of the farm is divided up into fields and plots showing the results of modern methods of cultivation, rotation, and proper use of fertilizers.

We visited and examined a ryd field on the untreated part of the farm. It would probably yield from three to five bushels per acre. It was typical sand ryd. Adjoining this on similar land was a crop of ryd that had been grown on land that had received proper treatment. This piece of ryd would yield close to twenty bushels or better.

Mr. Ullsperger has a very accurate set of accounts of each field, showing the cost of labor, cost of fertilizer, seed, etc. Practically every field has been improved in fertility and at the same time has been showing actual profit in crop production. Not to mention the increased possibilities for profit, now that the fertility has been built up to a considerable extent. All over the farm there are striking examples of what can be done on a sand farm in so short a period as three years by proper methods. A large outlay of cash is not necessary.

At this meeting there was a large attendance of interested farmers, business men, and county agents. There was a good representation from this community. Some of those who were in attendance from here are Ralph Wagers, J. B. Taylor, Lloyd Mathis and wife, Peter Weber with his wife and son, and Rochelle Brothers from Elron.

There will be another meeting some time the latter part of August. At this time most of the crops have matured or will be nearing maturity and will then show to better advantage the results from cultivation, rotation, and fertilization. It is believed at this time it would be worth the time of every farmer who is farming the light soils of Wood County to take the day off and go to this meeting. An effort will be made to organize an excursion to Hancock.

W. W. Clark, County Agent.

AUBURNDALE MAN KILLED AT MARSHFIELD BY TRAIN

Marshfield Herald—A shocking accident happened in this city on Saturday of last week where the Becker road crosses the Northwestern railroad on North Maple street, resulting in the death of Emil Wegner, manager of the R. Connor Company's store at Auburndale. The only ones to witness the accident were two little boys who were too young to furnish an account of the tragedy.

Mr. Wegner left Auburndale for Marshfield late in the afternoon of that day and was entering the city on the Becker road. He was driving a loco car. As he attempted to cross the railroad track the Wausau passenger train, which arrives here at 4:10, but late on that day, and running at a good rate of speed to make up lost time, hit his car, killing him instantly. As you approach the crossing, from the direction Mr. Wegner was coming, an approaching train can be seen for a long distance. The general supposition is that Mr. Wegner thought he could make the crossing in safety, but miscalculated the nearness of the train and the speed it was going.

Deceased was born in Waupaca county and was 22 years of age. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Wegner, reside at Wittenberg. Eleven years ago he began work as clerk in a store at Laona for the Connor Co. Five years later he was united in marriage to Miss Ellen Donnee, who died of influenza six months ago leaving Mr. Wegner heart broken and despondent, for they dearly loved each other as husband and wife. The remains were taken from this city to Wittenberg Sunday night and from there to Laona for burial, where his wife is buried. He was a member in good standing of the Knights of Columbus, this city and the Foresters at Auburndale.

WELL KNOWN SIGEL YOUNG COUPLE WED LAST WEEK

Miss Amelia Kruger, and Mr. William Zager, both well known Sigel young people, were married at St. John's Lutheran church in Sigel last Wednesday morning, the ceremony having occurred at eleven o'clock. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Gieselman, of St. John's Lutheran congregation, in Sigel.

The maid of honor was Miss Edith Zager, other bridesmaids being Elsie Sawaske and Nelda Habock. The best man was Carl Polanski, while Albert Holt and William Fisher were groomsmen. The bride made a very attractive appearance in ivory white satin and georgette, carrying a shower bouquet of white roses and snap dragons. The maid of honor, Miss Zager, was very prettily dressed in blue crepe de chine and carried a shower bouquet of pink carnations and daisies. The bridesmaids were very attractively gowned in pale green crepe de chine and silver gray tulle, carrying shower bouquets of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony the wedding party were guests at the home of the bride's parents, where a wedding dinner was served. Later the young people enjoyed a dancing party at the home, where a large number of the friends of the young couple gathered in honor of the occasion.

Mrs. Zager is well known in this city and in Sigel, being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman W. Kruger. She was formerly employed in this city but for some time past she has resided with her parents on their farm in Sigel. The bride is a most estimable young lady and has a host of friends to congratulate her. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zager, well known residents of that section. He was employed in this city with the Northwestern railway company for some time and has also farmed in Sigel for some time past. He is one of the progressive young men out there and with his wife have a great many friends who will unite with the Tribune in wishing them complete happiness.

Mr. and Mrs. Zager will make their home in the town of Sigel for the present, expecting to come to this city later to make their home here.

Club Women Plan "Neighborhood Americanization"

WASHINGTON.—The General Federation of Women's Clubs, with a membership of 2,000,000, has adopted an Americanization plan of work presented by Mrs. John Dickinson Sherman, chairman of the conservation department. Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, second vice president, has been appointed director of the Americanization work. The federation will use "Neighborhood Americanization" methods. A joint publication, comprehending the suggestions of all the 11 departments, will soon be put in the hands of club women. The suggestions for work which will be elaborated involve:

Americanization institutes for practical work, getting together club women, teachers and members of other organizations which will act in sympathy with the movement.

Americanization conferences, inviting all women's organizations in the community to send representatives, and including the leading women of each racial group, to advise on the needs and the methods of reaching the foreign-born women in the home.

Community gatherings of foreign and American born at which the foreign born shall show the gifts of their nations in music, art, food, the industries, etc., and the definite contribution these gifts can make to American life. This may be elaborated through community singing and pageantry.

Establishment of the handcraft of the foreign born.

Organization of clubs of girls whose parents are foreign born.

Committees to visit the naturalization courts and observe the processes of naturalization and to report such observations back to the clubs and to the general federation division of Americanization.

Opening of public school buildings for day and night schools for training new citizens and furthering classes in industrial plants.

Establishment of bureaus of information on naturalization in connection with public schools.

Comparative study of naturalization laws in various states.

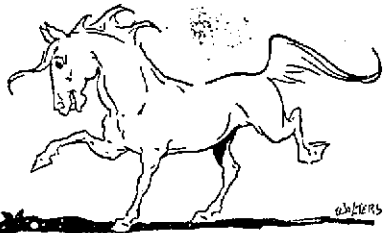

Use of public libraries as community centers.

Uncle Sam to Breed Horses for General Purposes

THE United States is to have a permanent supply of horses of the type most useful for military as well as general purpose usage. The movement, which has the support of the department of agriculture, which is to be made a permanent organization, and the bureau of animal husbandry, is along lines of demonstrated success.

A board of 14, composed of governmental authorities and civilian experts, will prepare a program of breeding operations. The remount service will furnish the stallions to be used for service, with selected mares of farmers, stockmen, and others at a nominal fee. State universities, agricultural colleges, state granges, agricultural societies, county agents, prominent farmers, breeders and horsemen will all have a part in the work. It is considered that 300 stallions will eventually be necessary to produce the requisite annual replacement of remounts for one field army.

The plan had its inception when it was demonstrated that there was a shortage of military horses in the United States. The requirement by purchase and through donations of the Jockey club and gentlemen interested in racing of 50 head of thoroughbred sires followed. These were placed at the federal remount depots in Montana, Oklahoma and Virginia. Permanent remount stations will now be established at a dozen places and the United States will be divided into five districts.

Two-Million United States School Garden Army

DEBATE in the house the other day let light on one of the several fields between the interior and agricultural departments. The bureau of education of the interior department has enlisted the "United States school garden army," with 2,000,000 members.

The agricultural department is trying to prevent the interior department from enlisting an appropriation to carry on the work and is endeavoring to gobble up the whole army. Raker of California read a letter from Secretary Houston of the agricultural department assuming ownership of these 2,000,000 boys and girls.

Baker of North Dakota got the floor and said, among other things: "The bureau of education has a department called the 'United States school garden army.' Now, this is the army that includes the 2,000,000 children as members, and I think the secretary of agriculture in his letter to the gentleman from California, when he mentions these 2,000,000 children, must refer to the children in the United States school garden army and not to the agricultural department."

"I do not think that this school-garden movement should come under the department of agriculture. I believe it should be under the bureau of education. It is purely an educational matter. School gardening is being taken into the curriculum of our schools today. We are spending $200,000 in the bureau of education for this great work."

"Reports say the school garden army connected with the bureau of education has 2,000,000 children enrolled, and that they are carrying on educational work with the teachers, sending out lecturers and putting on pageants throughout the country, and are really getting somewhere. It is working in cities over 2,000 in population."

"I think it is time for this congress, which is talking about economy, to co-ordinate these different activities of school-garden movement under one head in one department, and make one appropriation to take care of it in one department."

Even-Month Calendar Would Prevent Date-Mixing

CONGRESS is to be asked to substitute a million-year calendar for the present one. The Equal-Month Calendar association, with headquarters in Minneapolis, is pushing the movement. With the adoption of exactly four weeks per month, there will be days enough pushed over from the present reckoning for another month of 28 days, which it is proposed to call Liberty and to insert between February and March. There will also be a day additional to make 365, and an extra day every four years, as in leap year.

The new plan will take care of the regular additional day by placing it between December 28 and January 1, unattached to any week or month, and calling it New Year's day. Similar provision would be made for Correction day, as the leap year extra would be called, which would be sandwiched between convenient dates, belonging to no month and having no day name of its own except Correction. Having thus disposed of all possible days and extras, the calendar would be perpetual and uniform through all the years.

"The simplified calendar," argues Joseph U. Barnes, president, "could be adopted by congress to take effect the day of the year 1922, and six months under this simplified form would make us wonder why we put up so long with the present form. Every month would have exactly four weeks and would commence with Monday and end with Sunday."

"There would be no more five Sundays in a month to upset all our calculations."

Even the United States Senate Sometimes Laughs

PROCEEDINGS in congress, even in the senate, are not always ponderous and dull. Senator Reed of Missouri in the woman suffrage debate paid his respects to Senator Watson of Indiana and said, among many other things:

"How thrilling, it was yesterday when the senator from Indiana, standing at his full height and speaking in a loud tone, said, as he waved his finger in the air in true dramatic style, 'I shall insist that the senate remain in session tomorrow until this great measure is passed.'"

"Why this performance? For the cheap clap-net political purpose of trying to get some votes, not because of the merits of the case. Let me tell these valorous and knightly gentlemen in session tomorrow until this great measure is passed."

"The women know exactly what you are trying to do here today."

"The women know exactly what you are trying to do here today."

THERE ARE STILL A FEW OF THE VETERAN SLUGGERS FACING BIG LEAGUE PITCHERS

One by one the great sluggers who have blazed a trail of hits across the baseball horizon for the last ten or fifteen years are passing away.

Hitters like Hans Wagner and Sam Crawford, for instance, are few and far between these days, but there are still a few of the veteran larpers facing major league pitchers today, and one of the most picturesque of the lot is "Cactus" Cravath.

The "Old Cactus" has been playing ball actively for sixteen years, and the ravages of time have long since begun to show, for Cravath's legs today refuse to carry him around the gardens as they once did, and there are a few sprinkles of silver on his temples.

Cravath 37 Years Old. But although Cravath is thirty-seven years of age, having celebrated his thirty-seventh birthday last March, he still runs as a demon at the bat. Taking a toe hold and swinging from the hip is just as natural to Cravath as it ever was. And National League pitchers tell you that his eye has not been dimmed to any extent by the suns of 16 summers.

Making four hits out of five times at bat is a feat often accomplished in baseball, yet not by one player. Cravath, in his many years of slaughtering the offerings of pitchers, has registered four hits in one day many times. In the opening series between the Giants and Phillies he added another such performance to his long list, and one of the four hits he made in the second game against McGrawmen were doubles.

Ruth Is Hard Hitter. Babe Ruth is a tremendously hard hitter, but capable as he is with the budgeon, he will probably never be able to rank as the consistent day-in-and-day-out slugger Cravath has been. Cravath and Wagner were hitters of the old type, or vice versa. Jake Daubert, when at his best, was also a hitter of this select type.

It is a pleasure to pay tribute to a player like the "Old Cactus." His weatherbeaten hide is impervious to the criticisms that have been showered on his head by writers during the last two or three years—kind criticism, sure enough—but the kind that carries predictions which tell fabled that a player is through—and Cravath isn't through yet.

BASEBALL GAME PAYS

Baseball proved a financial success at the University of Virginia the past season, despite the limited schedule, due to the fact that none of the big college teams of the East came South this spring. The financial report, just made public by Manager J. N. Greer, shows a net profit for the entire season of $2,421.07.

M'GRAW'S CHOICE OF STAR PLAYERS

"I consider Hans Wagner the most valuable all-around player who ever wore a spiked shoe," says John J. McGraw. "I believe Jimmy Collins had the surest pair of hands I ever saw."

"I have never seen a man in the pitcher's box who equaled Mathewson in all-around ability."

"Roger Bresnahan was the greatest catcher I ever saw, always excepting Buck Ewing."

"I have never seen an outfielder who was Tris Speaker's superior."

"Amos Rusie always appealed to me as the speediest pitcher I ever saw."

KONETCHY POPULAR WITH DODGER FANS

Former St. Louis Veteran Is Vital Factor in Brooklyn.

Manager Robinson Made No Mistake When He Picked First Sackman to Fill Gap Left by Departure of Jake Daubert.

Jake Daubert, veteran first baseman of the Dodgers, may have been popular in his heyday in Flatbush, but it is safe to say Ed Konetchy's popularity will soon match that of Jacobus if the one-time Brave and Cardinal veteran continues to catch fire as he is today in the Dodger drive.

When Wilbert Robinson, desperate in need of a seasoned first baseman, plucked Koney from off the soapy chutes that led to the minors, there were many who feared Wilbert had made a mistake, that Koney never would come through and that it would be many a day before Brooklyn would unearth a first baseman who could approach the veteran Daubert.

Ask any fan today, however, what he thinks of Koney and undoubtedly he will tell you that the big Pole would lead Daubert's shoes more efficiently; that, in fact, he would prefer to have Koney on the Dodgers instead of Daubert, because Koney still is at his best, hitting all kinds of pitching and playing a bang-up game all day, whereas Jake has not yet had the good fortune to get started properly with the Reds.

An Effective Combination. One of the effective combinations in the elaborate type of dress is displayed in a gown of white organdie and white net combined. The net, embroidered in a very handsome design, forms the upper part of the gown, while the organdie, tucked from waist to hem, is placed in side panels. The finest of Irish crochet lace is used as a trimming on this frock, edging the collar, which is cut in deep points in the front away from the throat, and edging the two pockets placed on the front net panel, which are edged with lace.

No sash is used on this dress, and because of the beauty of the design and the material one indeed is needed. One sees many number of dresses with the finely tucked side panels in all sorts of fine cotton materials. As the tucks are as a rule not more than half an inch wide and are placed so closely together as almost to overlap they do not thicken the figure in spite of the fact that they run round instead of up and down.

While the white dress is the preferred now and again one finds a color combination worthy of note, as, for instance, in a soft little one-piece thing which has the upper part entirely of finest plaid cloth, the pink in color. The lower part of the skirt is made of an embroidered panel of net applied onto the chiffon and finished off at the sides and back with enough of the plain net to give the needed width, and let us note, in passing, that skirts are somewhat wider than the spring first showing frocks.

It is well known that this fabric is not graceful when skimped and the tight straight effects must be studiously avoided for really good and graceful results.

Solves a Problem. The use of fine net with other materials this summer solves a problem of what to do with the embroidered panels which come from the Philippines, Switzerland or France and which so often are too much for a shirt waist and yet not enough for the dress. Some of the most pleasing results obtained are shown by cleverly

Net Frocks Are Quite in Favor

The warm weather has brought forth a delightful array of the charming dresses of fine white net, richly combined with embroidered panels of the finest lace, now taking the place of the lingerie gown for the elaborate occasions when such a summer frock is needed.

The fine round thread nets lend themselves beautifully for this sort of dress and are accepted for informal evening affairs as well as for those formal afternoon occasions such as country club teas and bridge parties. Now and then, observes a fashion correspondent, one finds the embroidery on the net usually done in fine white cotton thread in a small trailing employed to put the dress together and add further richness, for the idea of putting these panels together with handsome lace, flit or Irish crochet, and flung out all the required spaces with the fine net.

In speaking of this sort of gown one must not forget that the sash is often its most important part, for one is just as apt to find it forming almost the entire back as not, the narrow inch-wide string belts being left for other dresses. If, however, one prefers the narrower type inch-wide-moire ribbon with picot edges is used in two strips.

Contrasting with the elaborately draped and befrilled frock we find the straight one-piece frock, almost perfectly straight from neck to hem, which is called the chemise frock. It is called and is made of embroidered panels of net and lace or embroidered batiste combined with the net. On this type of dress the sash is very wide and tied its full width about the waist as straight and unrelieved by folds or drawing in as a child's. Of course the dress itself buttons down the back and the long lines thus remain unbroken.

Ruffles as Trimming. Wee ruffles of plain organdie and very narrow edges of Valenciennes lace are used as trimming. In the place of the braiding the organdie is now and then covered with machine stitching, which has the effect of always done in white as for some reason this is to be a white summer, at least as far as our dress frocks go. This stitching was used a great deal during the winter on hats and turbans and on silk dresses, but as yet this is the first season it has appeared in the thinner fabrics, therefore its presence tends to be the most exotic thing.

One of the most delightful fabrics for the less elaborate dress than those described is the cross-hatched organdie, so sheer and fine that it is a delight to wear and behold endlessly. It is found made up into a rather dressy morning frock of almost shirt-waist simplicity, though the addition of tiny ruffles of foot along the wide low collar, along the sleeves and on the tops of the little pockets placed on the front of the skirt relieves the dress of any plainness whatever. A straight round belt holds in the waist and at the back a wide sash of the organdie is edged the full length, with the footing edging into the skirt. Accompanying this delightful frock is a wide-brimmed hat of the same material with a soft edge and bows of white net standing up at just the right angle in front.

Organdie Still in Favor. Of course we are not to think for a moment that organdie has lost its favor, though these finer dresses have pushed it somewhat to one side on dressy occasions. Organdie is delightful to see on the other person. It belongs by right to youth and slim figures, for its rigidity and its extreme thinness are both against it in the average woman's eyes.

The brilliant colors are much in favor for fine frocks and can be made as simple or as fancy as one desires. One of rose pink has a tight underskirt with a deep hem and over this hang four panels of the pink organdie edged with narrow lace frills. A bib of the organdie with the lace extending from the neck to the bottom of the bib appearing below the pink satin sash is introduced in the front of the waist to give the popular vestee effect, which seems to rage with the same favor the early spring gave it. The back of the waist is plain, relieved at the neck only by a deep collar of the lace-edged organdie and the sleeves, short to the elbow, have also the lace frills finishing them.

Fashion Forecast. Red hats will be featured in summer millinery—red sailors, red garden sport hats and the more elaborate mushroom shape for afternoon wear. This color note in millinery is especially effective with all white or gray gowns.

Neckwear and Veilings. Manufacturers of women's neckwear are busy adding new ideas for summer wear. Novelty veils and gimpes in organdie, net or lace have the major share of representation. Very narrow, dainty collars with matching cuffs, designed especially for wear with the oval neckline, are also regarded as promising. Filling-in orders in veils indicate that many types are included in the current demand. Fancy combination meshes, all-over chenille gots and various new drap veils are favored. Dry Goods Economist.

Using White Mull. White mull edged with Valenciennes lace is used for collars and vests in many of the finer chiffon blouses and in velvet and cloth dresses. Its soft outline is becoming to most women. The same idea is carried out in separate collar and cuff sets.

COLLECT GRAIN SAMPLES
NOW FOR FALL EXHIBITS

County Agent W. W. Clark has issued the following instructions and suggestions in regard to collecting samples for fall grain exhibits. In regard to grasses, clovers and alfalfa, he suggests:

"Collect tall, healthy, leafy samples having medium sized stems and cure slowly by spreading out to dry in a rather dark room or shady dry place. Don't pile too thickly or leave them too long. They must be well turned over and red and mould. Stirring the hay will prevent this. Put up neatly in bundles or sheaves about three or more inches in diameter at the base. Tie these bundles with strong cord. Do not use wide ribbons or binder twine. Leaves of each stalk, choose large and long stems and strips of the leaves of alfalfa clover, making a sheaf of each stalk before the dry leaves may drop off in handling. This may be prevented by covering your samples with a damp cloth for a short time before making up the sheaf, but do not get your sample too damp. It may mold. Prepare several nice sheaves of timothy, red clover, alsike, alfalfa, blue grass, and red top to send to our grain shows next fall and winter. Collect clover when in blossom, alfalfa when just beginning to bloom, and timothy and other grasses when heads are very ripe."

For preparing sheaf grain exhibits Mr. Clark suggests:

"Pick out of your field some nice ripe heads and tall stalks of oats, barley, wheat, rye, or whatever grains you may be growing and allow to cure out under cover. They must be spread out on the floor, on tables, or on a row of chairs, which will allow the air to circulate easily. Curving the stalks to dry improves the color greatly. Then strip off all leaves on each stem, put together in a three or four inch bundle. Try to secure well filled out heads and as bright straws as possible."

"For threshed grains the first step is to get plump grain of good color. You know how the grain will discolor and barley. This can be avoided by hauling a small load of bundles and let them cure in your barn. They may be set up in long shocks on the barn floor which allows a good circulation of air. Then thresh this grain separately. Later run your grain through the fanning mill and blow out all light seeds, chaff, etc. To increase the weight of your sample put some in a sack of your sample. You will observe that this treatment rubs off the heads and tips of oats and barley, and chaff which may adhere to the kernel. Blow this light stuff out of the grain you have threshed and you can readily see how the weight will be greatly increased. There is danger, however, of over doing this tramping. If, for example, the tips of oats and barley are rubbed off so that the meat of the kernels is exposed badly, the judges will object and say that the grain has been over worked. Get a half bushel or more ready. Pick out by hand any bad kernels you may find. It is not a very difficult matter to get a show sample of any good grain ready."

But He Offered No Security.
Little Donald came in one day just as I was taking a pie from the oven. "That's a fine pie," he said. "Can I borrow a piece?"—Exchange.

SHERRY
B. W. Gates and wife left on Friday last to attend the funeral of a cousin's son, who was drowned at Eagle River. The circumstance was distressing. He was born in Sherry about 25 years ago. Harold Willard was finely educated and had taught school at Two Rivers for the past three years. He had been called into the war service but we believe had not been across the waters. He had just gone to Eagle River to take up Christian work in connection with the Congregational church and was out with some boy scout and had been called into the war service. The burial was held at New London and the young man's death was greatly lamented. The parents and one brother, Charlie Willard, who spent the summer four years ago at the Gates home survive him. A very well attended school meeting on Monday night at the school house was of interest in the reports of the various officers. O. Leroux, was chairman of the meeting, Mrs. B. W. Gates secretary and Mrs. Port was excellent. Paul Zerkke was elected treasurer in place of H. Thomas. Various things were brought up to the school board. The two names suggested was the Pershing school and another Holstein school. A somewhat unpleasant feeling was caused by the matter of the allotment of territory to the Arpin high school. The lines coming very close to Sherry and the matter could not be viewed by all from the same stand point and it is to be lamented that friends of years should be unable to look at the matter from a more friendly spirit. Ralph Donahue of Stevens Point is visiting at the B. W. Gates home in this vicinity. Among the recently returned soldiers was Frank Drollinger. He reached home in time to spend the Fourth with home folks and surely it was happy by his being there. On Saturday last there was a barn raising on the Joe Myers place. Extreme caution was the order of the raising and everything passed off without any mishaps which we are glad to say. Edward Klieve returned home for a two weeks stay from his work in Detroit and he was in good time for hay making. The father, three little sisters and the aged grandparents rejoice in the young man having come home. On Thursday Mr. Jones took him and his father and little sisters Edith and Linda to Grand Rapids on a shopping tour in the automobile. Miss Edna Becker is home from Stevens Point for a stay of two weeks to visit her mother. Mrs. Fred Becker is visiting her sons families at Arpin and Rudolph. At the latter place is a grandson to get acquainted with. Helen Dorpat of Marshfield was a week end guest at the home of A. Wilken. She returned to Marshfield on Monday. The Shidl home have two grand children from Wausau with them. Mrs. Louis Waliner is in Stevens Point having treatment in hopes of getting relief from rheumatism from which she has suffered greatly for some months past. R. E. Curtiss and family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lenke and daughter, Irma, Sabbath last. Miss Florence Mantle was bridesmaid at the wedding of her cousin at the Lutheran church last Wednesday at Arpin. Dr. Russell of the Moody Bible Institute Chicago will preach in the Sherry Presbyterian church on Sabbath evening, July 20th and also administer the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. It is hoped that all the members will be out at that service. The Adult Bible Class of the Presbyterian S. S. will meet with Miss McLaughlin on Friday evening, one week late because of the Fourth, coming on Friday. The Lutheran ladies aid met with Mrs. Broecker last Thursday afternoon. Anton Wiken went to Marshfield on Monday. It was very quiet here the Fourth as all our people seemed to go some place else. It was a delightful day, just enough clouds to scare people home but as they were in cars could all go back if they wished. Miss Louella Coon of Blenker was the guest of Miss Irma Lenke last week. Miss Isla L. Davis leaves for her home at Mercer for a few weeks stay today.

SARATOGA
Blueberry pickers are thicker than berries this year. We saw one son with seven leaves, six berries, five grasshoppers and a load in his grasshoppers and he had been out since breakfast. Don't blame him for taking the hoppers as they seem to be living on blue berries. The second hand may be better than no berries. Wm. Warren of Grand Rapids was berrying on the Houston place Sunday as was also Mrs. Ira Miller of Kellner. George Koelsch of the county line was on our neighborhood Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Scott Meehan are now on their forty, recently purchased of Fred Gachnang and will be there two or three days cultivating the crops. They expect to improve and move on the forty soon. Andrew Pazurik has brought an eighty in our town of Rasmus Jensen and expects to settle on it and farm when he is released from the army. Rye harvest will soon be in full swing and promise is now for a full crop.

POLOVER ROAD
Mr. and Mrs. John Walter spent Sunday near Waupaca where they attended the silver wedding of a relative. John Knight sold his farm to a party from Chicago last week. Mrs. Foulton and son, Rowland and Mrs. Yorton and daughter, Leah of Stevens Point spent Sunday at the Herman Young home. Mrs. Harry Gilman and son, Don, of Amherst is visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Walters this week. Myron Maher who has been working in Virginia, Minn., is home visiting with her mother, Mrs. J. Maher.

MEEHAN
A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Slack Tuesday, July 8th. Les. Barden took a spin down to Babcock Monday in his auto making some business calls. Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Parks went up to Knowlton Monday being called there by the death of a friend, Mrs. John Van Order. Rye harvest has begun. It is good on the average and there is an unusual large acreage to harvest. School meeting passed off rather quietly Monday night. The attendance was light owing to the busy times for farmers which constitutes the greater part of our district. Mr. Barden was re-elected treasurer. It was voted to hold a nine months school and our school was officially named Meehan school. Garrett Fox is spending a few days at home having returned from Kenosha where he has been at work. George Burnett and wife of Amherst called on friends here Sunday while taking a trip through the country. George was a frequent visitor here a number of years ago and his unexpected call after the lapse of a number of years gave us quite a surprise. There has been lots of blue berries over on the marsh south of here. They are excellent quality and have ripened up quite early making it rather desirable picking. A. W. Avery of Grand Rapids was a caller here one day last week. Mr. Lawrence moved his saw mill in the town of Grant Tuesday when he has another pile of logs to saw into lumber. Mrs. Mabel Erler who lived near Baldwin, Mich., died at her home there recently. She was well known here as she was a resident here a number of years ago and at one time a teacher in our school. Her aged mother, Mrs. O. N. Parsons and a brother, Norman, live here at the present time on the old homestead. The funeral and burial was held at the home town in Michigan. Many old time friends are sorry to hear of her sudden death.

DIST. NO. 3, SHERRY
The good old Fourth has come and gone, friends have met and enjoyed themselves together and can return to their work with pleasant memories of the day. It was an ideal day this year to celebrate the glorious Fourth. Mr. Marach and son, Sam and Geo. Coombs and family spent the day at Vesper. Most of the rest of this burg spent the day at Rudolph. Vernon Streblow won first prize in the bicycle race at Rudolph and Coombs. Vesper Gilman and Irwin Coombs won second and third prizes in sack races and Irwin won second prize in a boys foot race. Peter Smielec of Sigel won first prize in the bicycle race at Vesper. Doris DeBly who has been very seriously ill is a little better but is still in a critical condition. Mr. Peter Akey and son, Howard of Wausau came down on Wednesday to assist with the DeBly home. Miss Marie Wolfmutter is also assisting in their time of need. Mr. and Mrs. Van Strier drove to River Lake the Fourth to visit over Sunday with Mrs. Van Strier's home folks. Mr. and Mrs. C. Hoogesteger have the pleasure of entertaining Mr. Hoogesteger's father and three sisters of Sheboygan. They came to spend a week. Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Streblow drove to the Rapids on Sunday to visit with friends. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Oleson, the twins and Miss Aurilia were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Coombs on Sunday. Everybody goes for raspberries these days and they are fine and very plentiful. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Pelot visited at the Jim Pelot home on Sunday.

SPOKE AT DEDICATION
Necedah Republican—Saturday forenoon about 200 people went over to Peterwell rock and enjoyed a picnic dinner, which was followed by a formal dedication of the magnificent new bridge. C. C. Fuller, county initiative and able executive ability, was responsible largely for the new structure, officiated as chairman of the program, and Atty. Theodore Brazau of Grand Rapids was the principal speaker. Atty. Brazau stated that it was fitting that the new structure not only be dedicated to commercial use of this community, but it was also fitting to dedicate the bridge as a memorial to the brave soldiers of Juneau and the county, inasmuch as the dedicatory ceremonies were held on the identical day that the world's treaty of peace was being signed by the allies and the central powers. Little Miss Marion Fuller completed the ceremony of dedication by breaking a bottle of champagne on the structure. Several speakers from Adams county were on the program for the occasion, but owing to the high water were unable to be present.

TUBERCULIN TESTING
About twelve Wood County herds have been tested for tuberculosis under federal authority. There are quite a number of others that have made application for tuberculin testing. These will be taken care of as soon as veterinarians are available. In making your application you should bear in mind that the application are coming in much faster than the government can take care of. Consequently you had better plan on putting your application in a month or so ahead of the date on which you want the test made. I have talked to several farmers lately and they said they did not want to put in the application now as they would be testing in warm weather. It would be better to put in your application and you will get your test some time in the fall. These applications should come in faster. Under this federal test you may have your herd tested free of charge. After the second test is made, showing no reactors, your name will appear on the state and national list of accredited herds. This in itself is mighty good advertisement if you have stock to sell. You are on the record for any time, you may do so without bothering about it. Even though the stock goes into another state. Blanks for securing a federal test, may be obtained at this office or of F. L. Muebach at Marshfield. W. W. Clark, County Agent.

SHERRY
B. W. Gates and wife left on Friday last to attend the funeral of a cousin's son, who was drowned at Eagle River. The circumstance was distressing. He was born in Sherry about 28 years ago. Harold Willard was finely educated and had taught school at Two Rivers for the past three years. He had been called to the service but we believe had not been across the waters. He had just gone to Eagle River to take up his Christian work in connection with the Congregational church and was out master when the tragedy occurred. The burial was held at New London and the young man's death was greatly lamented. The parents and one brother, Charlie Willard, who spent the summer four years ago at the Gates home survive him.

A very well attended school meeting on Monday night at the school house was of interest in the reports of the various officers. O. Leroux was chairman of the meeting, Mrs. B. W. Gates secretary and her report was excellent. Paul Zernicke was elected treasurer in place of H. Thomas. Various things were brought up to the school board. The two names suggested was the Berthling school and another Holstein school. A somewhat unpleasant feeling was caused by the matter of the allotment of territory to the Arpin high school. The lines coming very close to Sherry and the matter could not be viewed by all from the same stand point and it is to be lamented that friends of ours should be unable to look at the matter from a more friendly spirit.

Ralph Donahue of Stevens Point is visiting at the B. W. Gates home in this vicinity. Among the recently returned soldiers was Frank Drellinger. He reached home in time to spend the Fourth with home folks and surely it was happy by his being there.

On Saturday last there was a barn raising on the Joe Myers place. Extreme caution was the order of the raising and everything passed off without any mishaps which we are glad to say.

Edward Klieve returned home for a two weeks stay from his work in Detroit and he was in good time for his making. The father, three little sisters and the aged grandparents rejoice in the young man having come home. The Adult Bible class of the Presbyterian S. S. will meet with Miss McLaughlin on Friday evening, one week late because of the Fourth, coming on Friday.

The Lutheran ladies aid met with Mrs. Broecker last Thursday afternoon. Anton Wilken went to Marshfield on Monday.

It was very quiet here the Fourth as all our people seemed to go some place else. It was a delightful day, just enough clouds to scare people home but as they were in cars could all go back if they wished.

Miss Louella Coon of Blenker was the guest of Miss Irma Lenko last week.

Miss Isla L. Davis leaves for her home at Mercer for a few weeks stay today.

SARATOGA
Blueberry pickers are thicker than berries this year. We saw one son with seven leaves, six berries, five grasshoppers and a toad in his gatherings and he had been out since breakfast. Don't blame him for taking the hoppers as they seem to be living on blue berries and second hand may be better than no berries.

Wm. Warren of Grand Rapids was honoring on the Houston place Sunday as was also Mrs. Ira Miller of Kellner.

George Koelke of the county line was in our neighborhood Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Scott Meehan are now on their forty, recently purchased of Fred Gugenberg and will be there two or three days cultivating the crops. They expect to improve and move on the forty soon.

Garrett Fox is spending a few days at home having returned from Keweenaw where he has been at work.

George Burnett and wife of Amherst called on friends here Sunday while taking a trip through the country. George was a frequent visitor here a number of years ago and his unexpected call after the lapse of a number of years gave us quite a surprise.

There has been lots of blue berries over on the marsh south of here. They are excellent quality and have ripened up quite evenly making it rather desirable picking.

A. W. Avery of Grand Rapids was a caller here one day last week. Mr. Lawrence moved his saw mill in the town of Grant Tuesday where he has another pile of logs to saw into lumber.

Mrs. Mabel Erler who lived near Baldwin, Mich., died at her home there recently. She was well known here as she was a resident here a number of years ago and at one time a teacher in our school. Her aged mother, Mrs. O. N. Parsons and a brother, Norman, live here at the present time on the old homestead. The funeral and burial was held at the home town in Michigan. Many old time friends are sorry to hear of her sudden death.

SPOKE AT DEDICATION
Necedah Republican—Saturday forenoon about 200 people went over to Peterson well road and enjoyed a picnic dinner, which was followed by a formal dedication of the magnificent new bridge. C. C. Fulmer, gave initiative and able executive ability, was responsible largely for the new structure, officiated as chairman of the program, and Atty. Theodore Brazeeau of Grand Rapids was the principal speaker. Atty. Brazeeau stated that it was fitting that the new structure not only be dedicated to commercial use of this community, but it was also fitting to dedicate the bridge as a memorial to the brave soldiers of Juneau and Adams county, inasmuch as the dedication ceremonies were held on the identical day that the world's treaty of peace was being signed by the allies and the central powers. Little Miss Marion Fuller completed the ceremony of dedication by breaking a bottle of champagne on the structure. Several speakers from Adams county were on the program for the occasion, but owing to the high water were unable to be present.

REMODELING SALE!

Starts
July 10th

STEINBERG'S
LADIES READY TO WEAR & MILLINERY

Ends
July 17th

We are going to remodel our store, rebuild the front, install new fixtures and pattern the building after one of the modern city Ready-To-Wear Parlors. We will need room to work in and we are going to make room by cleaning out the stock in every department of our store with the exception of the Ready-To-Wear Department.

Goods in the other departments of our store will be sacrificed. Prices will be reduced to a figure below the present cost of replacing. They will not be replaced and we can afford to sell to you at the price we paid. Some of these goods are not only high priced, but are hard to buy in good qualities on the present market, and we urge our friends to come to the store early Thursday morning to take advantage of these Special Bargains. Every article of goods in every department except the Ready-To-Wear section must be sold. Not only must they be sold but they absolutely will be sold, for the prices are going to attract buyers from every section of Wood county and the neighboring counties. We have conducted our business in this city for many years and the people of this section are thoroughly familiar with the fact that the quality of our merchandise is the highest. No special orders of inferior qualities of goods will be placed on our shelves for this sale, but when you come to the store for this sale you are going to get the same old high quality of goods at a new, special, reduced price. A suggestion as to some of the bargains are offered below. These bargains are not especially selected to advertise but are taken at random from the bargains of the different departments. A visit to the store during the sale will convince you that if you want dependable, high quality merchandise at a startlingly low price, the opportunity of buying at this sale was never duplicated.

Miller Tires
"I am penalized if ever one comes back!"
See Their Uniform Mileage Through Your Meter's Eye
That Long-Distance Service Every Miller Gives
We pay our respects to the motor car's meter—it is proving that, tire after tire, Miller tires, under like conditions, wear alike. That, tire after tire, they are long-distance runners.
This Miller feat of producing Uniform Tires is much discussed. Of course it requires the choicest rubber and fabric. But more than that, the workers must be trained to build alike.
That is why the Miller factory has accomplished. And that is why we feature Miller Tires. By giving you exceptional mileage, we know we are earning your trust.
Reasonable prices, fair charges and quick service go with everything we sell.

TEST INDIANS RIGHT TO HUNT IN CLOSED SEASON

An Ashland dispatch to the Superior Telegram states that a test case as to the right of Indians to hunt anywhere in northern Wisconsin, regardless of state laws, will be made out of the conviction of Indians at Hayward, Mike, Charles and George O-Sho-Gay, who this week were found guilty of having venison in their possession during the closed season. The Indians, who the possession of the venison, and furthermore admitted that they killed deer outside of the Indian reservation during the closed season. Their case will be carried to the superior court at Ashland by their attorney, Willie S. Thorne, and if they lose an appeal will be taken to the U. S. courts. Assistant U. S. District Attorney Oldenberg of Madison attended the trial at Hayward, and the Indians expect him to cooperate in the federal courts, if necessary.

The treaty of 1854, by which the Lake Superior Chippewas surrendered all title to northern Wisconsin, north of Eau Claire, contained among other reservations, the right of the Chippewas to hunt and fish in the closed territory. This right, they were not expected to exercise during recent years, as there has been plenty of game on the reservation, and furthermore, there is no closed season on the reservation either for hunting or fishing. The Indians, who have been doing this, have been told that they have been told to insist on the exclusive right of the Indians to the reservation, without caring whether they could hunt and fish outside of the reservation or not. About five years ago, a local game warden arrested an Indian for alleged violation of the Wisconsin game laws, by fishing and hunting on the Bad River reservation during the closed season. The Indian, who was named as being related by ordering all white hunters off the reservation at all times.

"The Kakagon slough at the east end of Chequamegon Bay, abound in fish and water fowl, but white hunters and fishermen are barred from this game paradise in which the Indians hunt and fish during the entire year, although it must be admitted that they have commercialized their sport, and appear to know how to conserve both fish and game. The question of their right under the treaty of 1854 to hunt anywhere in northern Wisconsin is now raised by the white hunters and the brothers, Charles and George O-Sho-Gay. Conditions however the three Chippewas, Mike Go-keer, are much different from what they were when the treaty was signed at La Pointe 63 years ago, and a large percentage of the Indians are now allotted and are full fledged American citizens, while the number of tribal Indians to whom the treaty might apply is rapidly decreasing.

Kindness Counts for Much.
There's no telling what a little kindness will do. Assumed superiority is no guarantee of greatness. The really big soul can afford to be kind and gentle. As the gentle rootlets move stones and split rocks, so gentle characters accomplish things undreamed of by rougher characters. This does not prohibit the use of firmness when necessary. But even that may be applied with such gentleness that it will get results without offending. This is beyond the reach of some men.—Essex.

THIRTY SECOND REPEATS HISTORY OF IRON BRIGADE

In the Civil War, Wisconsin had many famous fighters, such as the "Iron Brigade" and others who have won lasting fame in the history of the world. Today we have added to those names the 32nd Division.

The whole story of the exploits of these brave young men cannot be written now. The entire story can never be written, for most of them who played some of the bravest parts sleep forever in France. It is estimated that 2500 of our "Red Arrow" heroes lie beneath the rude wooden crosses or in hastily dug graves over which no mark has been placed. The following brief account of the facts appear very bare, and does not tell one iota of the wonderful sacrifice, heroism and ability of these brave fellows to win against all odds. We will only say that this glorious Division never failed to do what it was asked to do, and to do it splendidly. Some of the facts concerning this 32nd Division are:

One of the darkest days in the front line, thirty-six days the most desperate fighting of the war.
Advanced thirty-six kilometers against the pick of the German army.
Fought and shattered twenty German divisions.
Broke the famous, Kriemhilde-Etollung line at Romagne.
Sustained 14,267 casualties more than half its original strength.
Lost seventy-three officers and 1,589 men known to have been killed in action. Twenty-one officers and 359 men are known to have died of wounds.

It follows to win against all odds. 1,023 officers and men listed as "missing in action" are dead and buried in unidentified and unmarked graves.
Sustained 2,000 casualties in one day's fighting alone.
Lost only two officers and seventy-four men taken prisoners, and captured forty German officers and 2,112 German soldiers.
Never lost a foot of ground to the Germans in counter attacks.
Won divisional citations several times and were nicknamed "Les Terribles" by the French and General Mangin.
Was only National Guard division chosen for army of occupation.
Was first American division to occupy German territory during war.
In all of the fighting in four major campaigns, the 32nd Division, the Second Division pointed always toward Germany and its men died with their faces toward the foe—Agriculturist.

WHAT THE PUBLIC THINKS OF GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP

An idea of what the public opinion of the government ownership of railroads is can be gained from the results of a questionnaire set out to 13,424 creditors of daily and weekly papers all over the country. Nearly 6,000 of these editors replied to the questionnaire, eight-three percent of the answers being in favor of the government ownership of the railroads to private ownership.

The questionnaire was conducted on behalf of the Association of Railroad Executives, and was complete before President Wilson announced in his recent message to Congress that the Government would relinquish control of the railways at the end of the year.

Editors were asked not to give their personal opinions, but to praise the sentiments in their communities. The four chief questions were as follows:

1. Does public opinion in your judgment seem to favor the return of railroads to private ownership and operation as soon as this can be properly accomplished?
2. If so, is this opinion in part based on the desire to see competition in service?
3. What is the present sentiment in your community on government ownership and operation of railroads?
4. What has been the feeling regarding the return of railroads to private ownership and operation as soon as this can be properly accomplished?

On the first question, Does public opinion in your judgment seem to favor the return of railroads to private ownership and operation as soon as this can be properly accomplished? 83 per cent voted yes, 11 per cent voted no, while 4 per cent were doubtful and 2 per cent did not answer.
On the second question, "If so, is this opinion in part based on the desire to see competition in service and facilities restored?" 75 per cent voted yes, 6 per cent voted no, while 19 per cent doubtful and blank respectively.
On the third question, "What is the present sentiment in your community on government ownership and operation of railroads?" 73 per cent voted yes, 17 per cent voted no, 7 per cent doubtful and 4 per cent blank.
On the fourth question, "What has been the feeling regarding the return of railroads to private ownership and operation as soon as this can be properly accomplished?" the vote was as follows: Against, 74 per cent; for, 16 per cent; doubtful, 9 per cent; blank, 7 per cent.

This public opinion on the railroad question is not divided on party lines is plain from a study of the vote in the various states. In Texas, for example, although only 3 of the 45 editors replying are Republicans, the number in favor of a return of the roads is 88 per cent, considerably higher than the percentage (81 per cent) in the strong Republican State of Pennsylvania. Tennessee voted 97 per cent as compared with 83 per cent in Maine.

Of the 5,922 replies, 2,652 were from Republican papers, 1,693 from Democrats, and 2,181 independent and gentler.
The States showing 95 per cent or more in favor of the return of the roads are Connecticut, 97; New Hampshire, 100; Tennessee, 97; those showing from 90 to 95 per cent in favor are Florida, 94; Iowa, 90; New York, 90, and Wyoming, 94. Those giving from 85 to 90 per cent in favor are Delaware, 89; Massachusetts, 87; Michigan, 88; Nebraska, 86; New Jersey, 89; North Carolina, 86, Ohio, 85; Oregon, 87; South Carolina, 89, Texas, 88; Utah, 86; Virginia, 86; West Virginia, 84.
Those returning from 80 to 85 per cent are Alabama, 84; Illinois, 82; Kansas, 82, Kentucky, 83; Maine, 83, Mississippi, 83, Missouri, 81; Montana, 83; Pennsylvania, 84; South Dakota, 81 and Washington, 84.
Those giving from 75 to 80 per cent are Arizona, 76; California, 77; Colorado, 76; Louisiana, 77; Maryland, 76; Minnesota, 79; Nebraska, 78; New Mexico, 76; Oklahoma, 79; Rhode Island and W. V., Wisconsin, 76. The only States below 75 per cent are Idaho, 72; Arkansas, 68, and Nevada, 67.
The strongest sentiment against government ownership was found to be in New England and the South section widely apart in political sentiment. Only 4 per cent of New England editors and 7 per cent of Southern editors reported their people favoring government ownership.

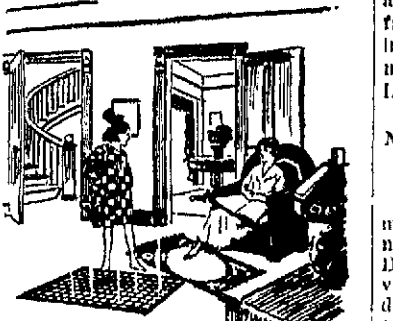

On the question of the return of the roads the New England editors voted 51 per cent in favor, 15 per cent no, with 3 per cent doubtful and blank.
In the North Atlantic States (New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia) 61 editors (87 per cent) voted yes, 7 per cent no, and 6 per cent doubtful and blank.
In the Great Lakes States (Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Wisconsin), 1,032 editors (80 per cent) decided that public opinion in their communities favored the return of the roads while 125 (10 per cent) voted no; 6 per cent doubtful and blank.
The Northwest (Iowa, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wyoming) returned 80 per cent in favor and 13 per cent opposed out of a total of 1,165 replies. This result is largely influenced by the government ownership sentiment in North Dakota.

The editors of the far west (Arizona, California, Idaho, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Colorado, Utah, Washington) voted 73 per cent yes and 15 per cent no on the question of returning the roads to their owners.
The Southwest (Arkansas, Louisiana, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas) returned 1,196 replies. Of these 876 or 73 per cent favored the return of the roads while 153 or 13 per cent opposed it, with 67 or 6 per cent doubtful and blank.
Cultivate Confidence.
The man or woman who ventures much, may fail often, but he will achieve in proportion to those very failures because he will use each one as a stepping stone to higher effort. But the man or woman who quibbles, reconsiders, hesitates and weighs every gain against a greater loss, is a predestined failure, because his very attitude of mind creates that condition which he should avoid.—Lexington.

Deep Diving.
The greatest depth ever reached by a diver is said to be 204 feet. The greatest depth at which useful work has been done is 182 feet. Sponge and pearl divers, working without armor, frequently descend to depths of about 150 feet.

Famous Balkan Tribe.
The Mirdites are perhaps the most interesting tribe in the Balkans. They have remained Christians in spite of all the efforts of the Moslems. They claim their language is the purest of the peninsula—an Aryan tongue much of whose vocabulary is said to resemble classical Greek and Latin, and to be allied with them rather than derived from them. They have always been famed as the finest fighting men in Albania, a country in which most men fight or have fought, and there is no race in the world more independent.

And Make It Personal.

The Beaver's Memory.
For generations beavers flourished in the rivers of France till killed off for their fur, and they are now known only on the Rhone, near Avignon, where for three centuries there have been no trees to cut down. The animals consequently flourished in the banks, but when transferred to Poland at once resumed the tree-cutting habits dropped by their ancestors 300 years before.

Important Question.
A little boy of five was traveling south with his parents to visit an aunt whom he had never seen. He was very curious about this relative and asked his father and mother endless questions concerning her. As the journey drew to its close the little fellow was amazed to see many negroes at every station. Suddenly a look of consternation dawned on his face and turning to his mother he cried in a voice of alarm: "Mamma, mamma, what color is Aunt Jan?"—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

NEW YORK DOCTOR CLAIMS INFLUENZA NOT DANGEROUS

Influenza and pneumonia are no more to be feared than a boil on the neck, according to Dr. Charles H. Duncan, one of the founders of the volunteer hospital, who, in an address here on Tuesday before the convention of the Allied Medical Association of America, described his method of combating Spanish influenza by means of "immunizing a patient to its poison."

On 245 patients ill with pneumonia and influenza last winter, Dr. Duncan said he had used the treatment "without a single fatality or any complications."

"Briefly," the physician said, "I take one drachm of mucus from the infected area and pasteurize it in 'one quart' of water for about ten years, and it remains several hours. One cubic centimeter of the toxin, injected subcutaneously, will effect a spontaneous cure of Spanish influenza, pneumonia, catarrh or any similar localized infection. It will stop a cough, except tuberculosis, inside of twenty-four hours."

Dr. Duncan declared that his discovery was based on his observation that the winter's sore paw, the sore throat, the dog, by increasing the germs of resistance at the place of infection, brought about a natural healing, and that the method he employed was similar in that it increased the leukocytes, or white corpuscles of the blood and that these in turn carried the poison out of the human system.

The doctor said that he had been using the method, which he calls "auto-therapy," for about ten years, and that it now was widely accepted by allopaths, homeopaths and eclectic physicians, although it had not been endorsed by the American Medical Association.

It has been successfully tested on 5,000 horses in the New York street cleaning department.

Dr. George F. Laidlaw, professor of the history of medicine and diagnosis at the volunteer hospital, in discussing the Duncan method, said that the discoverer "has solved a problem that has been germinating in medicine for 2000 years."

Dr. Duncan's work marks the coming of Pasteur, Koch and Wright, and is a decided step forward in the regular development of bacterial therapy."

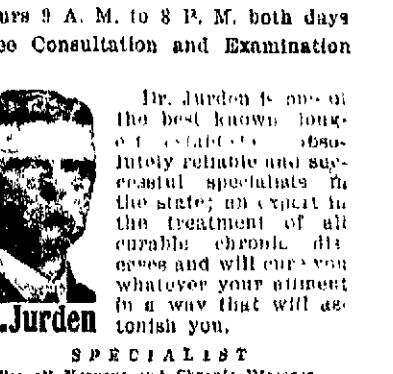

Dr. Duncan said that by taking the poison from a boil and subjecting it to his process, thus injecting the sterilized product into a patient's body, he not only cured him of the boil, but rendered him immune against a repetition of such afflictions.

Similar results, he said, had been obtained in cases of mastitis, eczema and certain types of local venereal diseases.

Every article of goods in every department except the Ready-To-Wear section must be sold. Not only must they be sold but they absolutely will be sold, for the prices are going to attract buyers from every section of Wood county and the neighboring counties. HOW OUR HEROES LOOK

PORTRAITS OF MEDAL WINNERS BY J. C. CHASE FOR THE OFFICIAL HISTORY OF AMERICA IN THE GREAT WAR

By JOHN DICKINSON SHERMAN.

HARK! Now the drums begin to beat. Look! Where the banners all are waving. Who's that marching up the street? See! Where the flag is flying proud.

Look! Where the hats are tossing, too.

Hark! Where the cheer is the loudest.

Who's that shouting "Hooray"?

The answer is "The Marines"—the lines are from Joseph C. Lincoln's splendid tribute to the "Leathernecks," which was written shortly after they opened the line in the first week of June, 1918, by stopping the victorious Germans in the Chateau Thierry sector, forty miles from Paris.

"You know the rest, in the books you have read"—how the Marines not only stopped the selected German shock troops short, but went right at 'em and licked 'em to a frazzle. The Marines were the whole thing then for quite a while. They were the first Americans to get into action on their own account and the Chateau Thierry story was spread broadcast over the world for the sake of its heartening effect on our allies.

But this morning business is old stuff now.

Don't mistake me. The Marines have not changed. And there are no better fighting men in the known world.

For 100 per cent all round efficiency they have no equal. The military experts of all nations will tell you so.

For one thing, they're always ready, always packed up and asking, "Where do we go from here?"

They're the oldest branch of the United States military service and Uncle Sam has used them so long as a sort of international P. M. that they really know their business.

Before the great war, you know, they were the fighting men on our battlefields, and when they were put ashore anywhere—it made no difference where—pretty soon Washington got this delectable message: "The Marines have landed and have the situation well in hand."

Add to this unbroken motto, "What we have, we hold," and you have a pretty good line on this picked outfit of fighting men.

This Marine stuff is old stuff for an entirely different reason—for two reasons. One is that there was a lot of fighting between June 1 and November 11, 1918. The other is that we are now beginning to hear all about it. The point is: While the Marines kept right on adding to their laurels and the regulars ran 'em a dead heat, the common everyday American soldiers—all branches of the service—also got into action and staged some thrillers of their own.

National National army, air service—it made no difference. As fighting men, they proved they were worthy to stand and to charge alongside regulars and Marines—and words can say no more. They have their own place in the sun and they won it in the only way a fighting man can win it. You know how.

The German high command at the Spa in Belgium during the war studied the American soldier systematically and thoroughly, and formally wrote its conclusions into the official records. Major von Rundstedt, on General Ludendorff's staff, has made public some of these official conclusions. One is: "The Americans are very brave and active, but highly impractical." He explained this by saying that they pushed their fighting was a good deal of a sporting proposition, and that they wanted to get all the adventure and excitement possible out of it. Besides, it was impossible to tell what the Americans could do. They might attack anywhere and any time. They might get tired sitting around or get peeved at the mosquitoes or feel mad because their rations had not come up—then they were apt to take it out on the enemy. Major von Rundstedt, asked to name off some of the American divisions considered by the high command as among the best, replied:

"The division which you call 'The Rainbow in the Sky' (Forty-second), and that division made up of half of Marines (Second regular); also the Twenty-eighth (Pennsylvania National Guard), and the First (regulars)."

When the high command records were examined these divisions were also found included among the most effective: Thirty-second (Michigan and Wisconsin National Guard), Twenty-sixth (National Guard, New England), Thirty-third (National Guard, Illinois, Prairie), and Thirty-seventh (National Guard, Ohio).

Official American Portraits.

The judgment of the German high command as to division efficiency, it will be noted, is borne out by the American records now beginning to be made public. And Major von Rundstedt unconsciously painted a gorgeous picture of the American soldier as a first-class fighting man.

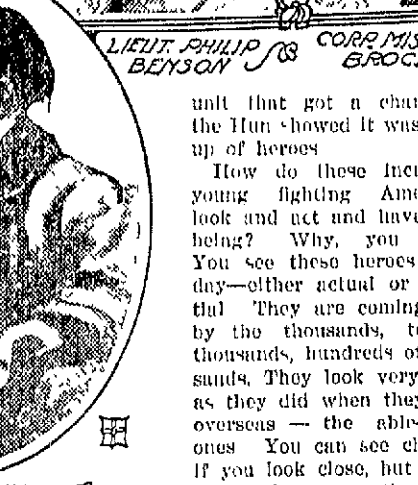

It is to when we come to the individual exploits of our fighting men that we get the real thrills. Official citations have given us the bald outlines of deeds of desperate valor that won recognition. Here and there some especially noteworthy exploit has found a sympathetic chronicler. Everywhere is this outstanding fact: Every fighting

RESTORATION WORK IN RUINED FRANCE

AMERICAN PROFESSIONAL AND BUSINESS MEN MAY FIND OPPORTUNITIES THERE.

DEVASTATION WAS APPALLING

Varenne and Sermatize Cited as Examples of the Way in Which the Germans Willfully Destroyed Thousands of Towns.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—Scores of inquiries are being made in Washington by professional and business men as to future opportunities for American enterprise in France, and in the rebuilding of the devastated territories. It seems probable that if France cannot supply from her own population engineers enough and enough men of the professions and trades generally to do the work of reconstruction, the United States may bear a considerable part of the work.

Many of the inquiries have come from discharged soldiers, officers and men, for the American Expeditionary forces contained both in the commissioned and non-commissioned ranks many men of a training which fits them for the work which is ahead.

Thousands of reams of manuscript have been written about the devastation in France, but no one who has not seen it can, by any chance, have a faint sense of what this devastation is. It is appalling, and a large part of it is devilish because it was caused by devilish intention without the slightest excuse of the necessities of warfare. When one has seen the terrible ravages in the fair land of France he readily can understand why the French people today are so insistent that full reparation shall be made by Germany.

Varenne is an example of devilishness. There are some interesting if comparatively small towns in France which the Germans destroyed without excuse. These towns have high places in history. They contained priceless monuments of the past which today are level with the dust. Monuments can be rebuilt, but they are not the same monuments, nor have they in them the interest which centers on things sacredly ancient.

Take the town of Varenne, for instance. It is close to the Argonne Forest. Varenne five years ago was a thriving place with several beautiful public buildings, a compellingly beautiful church, while all about the place was the ambience of history. Today the only thing left in Varenne is the shell of an apothecary shop. The sign still is over the door. It is the only sign left in Varenne except the sign of German desolation.

Varenne is known to every reader of history as the place where Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette were arrested on their flight to Paris to get out of the hands of the Revolutionists. I passed through Varenne last fall in the wake of the advancing army. Even amidst desolation one occasionally can find something to arouse a sense of humor. I saw a number of men disappearing down a ladder which led to a deep hole in the ground underneath the demolished apothecary shop. I wondered what they were doing down there. In a few minutes I found out. It seems that in the subterranean regions of this drug store the men had discovered something which occasionally is found in drug stores in dry territory in the United States. Apparently the Germans had overlooked it, and if my eyes did not deceive me the boys had made some find.

What the Huns Did to Sermatize. There is the town of Sermatize in France. The Germans did everything that they could to Sermatize and everything that they could mean that they entirely demolished it. It was a place of 5,000 inhabitants, beautifully laid out and with one of the most wonderful churches in all France. When war had done its worst to Sermatize there was nothing left of it except the church tower, which was unharmed with shell holes. It may be that there were older churches in France, probably there are, but when one reads as I did the date 1693 on the facade of a sanctuary he realizes that he is in the presence of an ancient and honorable.

Mention has been made of only two towns which today are in a state of desolation like unto that of the Cities of the Plains. There was no excuse for the destruction of these fair old towns of France. Only two have been named. There are two more, the two in the multiplicity will give you close to the number of villages the destruction of which France mourns today, and which Americans may help to rebuild.

Army Plans Depend on League. In the hot weather a house committee has been holding hearings on a bill for the support of the army as it exists, and indirectly getting information which may be of service when the time comes to reorganize the regular army.

How can men decide on regular army reorganization when they do not know definitely what the fate of the covenant of the League of Nations is to be?

It seems likely that if the league takes the field one day fully equipped, the larger part of the proposed American army may never get into the ranks. An accepted League of Nations might have no effect on the restoration work in ruined France. The plan of the general staff for army reorganization which was submitted at the last session involved the recruiting of a regular army of a little more than half a million men. This plan, although it received no attention at the last session, forms a part of the basis of present discussion, and out of it eventually will be brought the new organization scheme, whatever it may be, a scheme which if adopted may go by the board as soon as the League of Nations becomes a reality.

Fight Over General Staff Plan.

It would be untruthful to say that the majority of representatives and senators believe that even with a peace-among-nations pact the strength of the regular army of the United States should be diminished close to the vanishing point. The Republicans, it is said, intend to give the country a standing army of diminished numbers. Whether or not they will sanction universal military training of course yet remains to be determined.

It is useless to try to hide the fact that there is a pretty good feeling among the ranking officials of the regular army today. The general staff, many army officers say, is a rather close corporation. The charge is that the staff's intention is, if it can secure congressional sanction for its general plan, to make the general staff the all-in-all of army administration. The chiefs of army departments and bureaus as they exist today are antagonistic, bitterly so, to many of the plans which the general staff is trying to put into effect with legislative sanction. The Congress must determine the right in the matter.

Army officers who are opposed to the staff plan say that if it is put into effect it will mean the complete subordination of the views of men who know their business to the views of men who only think they know their business. It would be a tedious and thankless job to go into the details of the things which the general staff seems to want to accomplish. Putting it broadly, the staff critics say that it would mean to run the army; that it would mean to make the chief of staff, chief of engineers, chief of ordnance and chief of everything else, unless it be the medical corps.

American plans for universal military training, but it certainly would affect the size of the standing army.

Officers May Criticize Freely.

Within the next few weeks, if the purveyors of the news consider the matter of importance enough, the country will learn that army officers of high rank are not afraid to speak their opinions when the shield of congress is thrown about them. An army officer giving his views before a committee of congress is protected in his right to criticize the doings of his superiors, although, of course, he is expected to keep away from personalities that are personalities only.

Discipline and a feeling of loyalty to the service have kept scores of ranking officers of the army quiet during the past few months. An immense amount of bitterness of feeling has been engendered by the reorganization plans of the general staff. The staff will defend itself and officers of other bureaus will attack.

Women's Legion of Great War.

In organizing the wives, mothers and daughters of men who fought in the great war. An association has been completed in the District of Columbia. It is to be known as the American Women's Legion of the Great War.

This is a local organization, but the belief here is that eventually the scope of the work will be nation wide. In fact, some of the friends of the movement believe the women of the country who have close relatives in the war should undertake to form an organization somewhat like that of the American Legion recently formed in St. Louis, and which has for its object the banding together in fellowship of the soldiers who fought against Germany.

It is true that the American Legion will admit to membership women who did war work of a certain kind. It does not contemplate, however, the admission to membership of women simply because they were either the wives, mothers, daughters or sisters of active combatants.

The Washington organization offers membership to the female "next of kin" to veterans of the war. The wives, mothers and daughters of enlisted men are just as welcome as are the women relatives of officers. The intention is to make the thing thoroughly democratic. Representative women have the organization in mind and for a time will conduct its activities. It is likely that before long officers of the organization will be chosen from the ranks of the women whose next of kin were enlisted men.

Mrs. Eustis Is President.

Mrs. William Cochran Eustis has been elected president of this District of Columbia association. She is the widow of former Vice President Louis F. Morton, who in his ninety-sixth year is still living. Mrs. Eustis is the wife of a soldier who saw service in France.

The organization is open to "women-folk" of men of the army, navy and marine corps. Among the officers are Mrs. William M. Black, wife of the chief of engineers; Mrs. A. F. Niblack, wife of an admiral of the navy, and Mrs. George Burnett, wife of the chief of the marine corps.

First, "to be a living memorial to the cause which sent American into the war," and second, "to strive to fill some useful purpose with consequent benefit to the nation."

Baby Shoe an Ornament.

The first shoe of the first baby may be preserved as an ornament with both intrinsic and sentimental value. A jeweler plates in gold or silver the creased and worn little shoes just as the baby foot formed it.

Handy Oil to Have.

Automobile oil is expensive, and useful for many household purposes; one drop will relieve a squeaking door hinge or a heavy running sewing machine; wipe it off with absorbent cotton.

The tenderness and flavor of Libby's Dried Beef are frequently commented upon.

Place Hitting.

"In hitting you must be careful about placing a ball."

"Um."

"That is, unless you can place it over the fence."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Such a medicine is Dr. Killemer's Swamp-Root, kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

The same standard of purity, strength and excellence is maintained in every bottle of Swamp-Root.

It is scientifically compounded from vegetable herbs.

It is not a stimulant and is taken in teaspoonful doses.

It is not recommended for everything.

It is nature's great helper in relieving and overcoming kidney, liver and bladder trouble.

A sworn statement of purity is with every bottle of Dr. Killemer's Swamp-Root.

If you need a medicine, you should have the best. On sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to try this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Killemer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper—Adv.

Students Must Know Bible.

Beginning with this year, some knowledge of the Bible will be a part of the requirements for admission to Columbia University. Students must know the epic narrative of the Old Testament, the history of the Hebrews from the Babylonian period to the destruction of the Jewish commonwealth in A. D. 70, memorable passages of Biblical prose and poetry and know something of early Christian biography. How many men and women of today could pass an examination covering these subjects?—Youth's Companion.

Opportune Moment.

At a recent Sunday school entertainment one of the primary pupils posed in a tabernacle as the "Infant Samuel." In a surprise, at his teacher's knee, hands clasped as in prayer, the effect would have been most reverent if Billy, the "Infant Samuel," partner in marbles, had not been holding forth on the front seat. In the hush that followed the rising of the curtain Billy said:

"Prayin' 'bout that swell agent of mine you went and copped, are you?"

FARMERS HAD GOOD SESSION AT HANGCOCK

On July 2nd a very successful meeting was held at the Hancock Experiment Station. The meeting was in charge of Professor Ulmberger who is responsible in the main for the good work that has been carried on at this station. The farm which makes up the station was given to the state of Wisconsin three years ago by the citizens of Hancock and the surrounding community to be used for experimental purposes. At this time the farm was run down as may be seen by parts of it which have been left in their original condition. The rest of the farm is divided up into fields and plots showing the results of modern methods of cultivation, rotation, and proper use of fertilizers.

We visited and examined a ryelield on the untreated part of the farm. It would probably yield from three to five bushels per acre. It was typical sand ryel. Adjoining this on similar land was a crop of ryel that had been grown on land that had received proper treatment. This piece of ryel would yield close to twenty bushels per acre. Mr. Ulmberger has a very accurate set of accounts of each field, showing the cost of labor, cost of fertilizer, seed, etc. Practically every field has been improved in fertility and at the same time has been showing actual profit in crop production, not to mention the increased possibilities for profit, now that the fertility has been built up to a considerable extent. All over the farm there are striking examples of what can be done on a sand farm in so short a period as three years by proper methods. A large outlay of cash is not necessary.

At this meeting there was a large attendance of interested farmers, business men, and county agents. There was a good representation from this community. Some of those who were in attendance from here are Ralph Wagers, J. B. Taylor, Lloyd Mathis and wife, Peter Wagner with his wife and son, and Rochester brothers from Birch. There will be another meeting some time the latter part of August. At this time most of the crops will have matured or will be nearing maturity and will then show to better advantage the results from cultivation, rotation, and fertilization. It is believed at this time it would be worth the time of every farmer who is farming the light soils of Wood County to take the day off and go to this meeting. An effort will be made to organize an excursion to Hancock.

W. W. Clark, County Agent.

AUBURNDALE MAN KILLED AT MARSHFIELD BY TRAIN

Marshfield Herald.—A shocking accident happened in this city on Saturday of last week where the Becker road crosses the Northwestern railroad on North Maple street, resulting in the death of Emil Wegner, manager of the R. Connor Company's store at Auburndale. The only ones to witness the accident were two little boys who were too young to furnish an account of the tragedy.

Mr. Wegner left Auburndale for Marshfield late in the afternoon of that day and was entering the city on the Becker road. He was driving a 1900 car. As he attempted to cross the railroad track the Wausau passenger train, which arrives here at 4:10, but late on that day, and running at a goodly speed, hit his car, killing him instantly. His car, approaching the crossing, from the direction Mr. Wegner was coming, an approaching train can be seen for a long distance. The general supposition is that Mr. Wegner thought he could make the crossing in safety, but miscalculated the nearness of the train and the speed it was going.

Deceased was born in Waupaca county and was 32 years of age. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Wegner, reside at Wittenberg. Eleven years ago he began work as clerk in a store at Laona for the Connor Co. Five years later he was united in marriage to Miss Ellen Dennee, who died of influenza six months ago leaving Mr. Wegner heart broken and disconsolate, for they dearly loved each other as husband and wife. The remains were taken from this city to Wittenberg Sunday night and from there to Laona for burial, where his wife is buried. He was a member in good standing of the Knights of Columbus, this city and the Foresters at Auburndale.

WELL KNOWN SIGEL YOUNG COUPLE WED LAST WEEK

Miss Amelia Kruger, and Mr. William Zager, both well known Sigel young people, were married at St. John's Lutheran church in Sigel last Wednesday morning, the ceremony having occurred at eleven o'clock. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Gieselman, of St. John's Lutheran congregation, in Sigel.

The maid of honor was Miss Edith Zager, other bridesmaids being Elsie Savaske and Nedra Haebek. The best man was Carl Polansky, while Albert Peit and William Fisher were groomsmen. The bride made a very attractive appearance in ivory white satin and georgette, carrying a shower bouquet of white roses and snap dragons. The maid of honor, Miss Zager, was very prettily dressed in blue crepe de chine and carried a shower bouquet of pink carnations and daisies. The bridesmaids wore very attractive gowns in pale green crepe de chine and silver gray taffeta, carrying shower bouquets of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony the wedding party were guests at the home of the bride's parents, where a wedding dinner was served. Later the young people enjoyed a dancing party at the home, where a large number of the friends of the young couple gathered in honor of the occasion. Mrs. Zager is well known in this city and in Sigel, being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman W. Kruger. She was formerly employed in this city but for some time past she has resided with her parents on their farm in Sigel. The bride is a most estimable young lady and has a host of friends to congratulate her. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zager, well known residents of that section. He was employed in this city with the Northwestern railway company for some time and has also farmed in Sigel for some time past. He is one of the progressive young men out there and with his wife have a great many friends who will unite with the Tribune in wishing them complete happiness.

Mr. and Mrs. Zager will make their home in the town of Sigel for the present expecting to come to this city later to make their home here.

WISCONSIN TO OUST I. W. W.

Senate Passes Anti-Syndicalist Bill 23 to 4.

EXPECTED TO WIN IN HOUSE

Measure Aimed at Sabotage and Other Unlawful Terrorism—Drastic Punishment for Guilty—Nye Soldiers' Bill Concurred In.

Madison.—Members of the I. W. W. will be driven from Wisconsin by force of law. The senate, by a vote of 23 to 4, passed an anti-syndicalist bill and the measure will be concurred in by the house.

When Senator Nye brought up the bill Arnold, the Socialist leader, objected to the introduction and asked Nye what the bill meant.

"If Socialism means what Socialists say it does, the bill will not affect the Socialist party," Nye replied. Arnold persisted in his objection and the senate suspended the rules in order to receive the bill. Speaking on the measure, Arnold declared that the Socialist party believes in a process of peaceful evolution and that it does not advocate violence. He expressed the fear that such a measure will be taken as a ship at the Socialist party and added that he could not see the need for such a law. Senator Nye said he did not think the bill was aimed at the Socialists.

The bill is aimed at criminal syndicalism, sabotage, malicious damage to property and other unlawful terrorism. It says: "Criminal syndicalism is prohibited and any person guilty thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment, at the discretion of the court."

By a vote of 51 to 19 the assembly concurred in the Nye bill granting to discharge soldiers an opportunity to obtain an education in the higher institutions of learning in Wisconsin at state expense. The state will pay $30 a month for the education of these returned soldier boys under a system similar to the S. A. T. C. system which was used during the war. Early last week this bill was introduced by Assemblyman G. H. Hood of Warren.

The measure came up the house reconsidered the bill by a vote of 60 to 20 and then concurred in the bill. The assembly killed the bill appropriating $100,000 to the state department of education. This department has a contingent fund of approximately $85,000 and with the $100,000 which it now has on hand as a surplus, will have to make ends meet. The state department of education desires a larger appropriation than that which is printed by the legislature.

Although the assembly last week sent to third reading the Stogmo bill, bringing employees of hotels and restaurants under the industrial commission, Assemblyman Kukulski of Milwaukee moved a reconsideration and killed the bill by a vote of 40 to 43. Buckley claimed that the Socialists had permitted canners to be exempted from an eight-hour bill and that there was no reason why hotels and restaurants should be brought under a law if canners were not. Klein claimed there was no reason why hotels and restaurants should not be brought within the supervision of the state industrial commission. Assemblyman Rutan claimed that hotels were already overburdened with restrictive legislation. The bill was then killed. The defeat of this bill means that only one eight-hour measure has gone through this session of the legislature. This was the Milwaukee bill which brings women employees in factories and shops under the eight-hour law and limits the amount of overtime to six hours a week. Canners are exempted from the provisions of the Milwaukee bill.

The assembly killed the bill providing for a 5th aquarium at McKinley beach at Milwaukee and refused to reconsider the vote by which it killed the bill holding employees obtaining transportation with intent to defraud as guilty of misdemeanor.

After attaching in age limit the senate engrossed the Wilcox bill for supplemental education and Americanization of aliens. This bill now provided that workers under twenty-five years of age who are employed in a community in which there is a vocational school must either have a mastery of the English language (up to that of the third grade) or they must attend the school equivalent to eight hours per week until they learn the language. Farm laborers and domestic servants are exempted from the measure.

To Probe Old Age Pension Plan. A more searching investigation of the old-age pension question is desired by the senate, which engrossed a bill to create an interim committee to report to the next session. The bill appropriates $12,500 for expenses. Senator Bentley, a member of the legislative committee named two years ago, which reported against the pension system to this session, claimed this system was excessive and proposed an amendment which cut it to $5,000. This was defeated 10 to 13. The bill was advanced.

Wisconsin Second in Egg Production. Three million dozen, thirty-six million eggs of this year's production, are now in cold storage plants in Wisconsin. In addition to these, there are many more millions packed away in glass jars or bins by private families and other millions have been shipped out of the state. These, with those consumed, make up the total of $14,000,000 worth of eggs, representing the annual product of Wisconsin hens, said Dairy and Food Commissioner Weigle. Wisconsin is the second state in egg production.

State Fifteenth in Autos Owned. Wisconsin ranks fifteenth among the states in regard to the number of automobiles owned by its people. There are 106,344 automobiles in the state, which is one to every 13.2 inhabitants, estimating the population of the state at 2,610,000. The leading state of the Union in per capita automobile ownership is Nebraska. In that state the number of automobiles per private ownership is 173.97, which is one automobile to every 7.5 inhabitants, based on the state's population of 1,368,000.

Convention Bill Passes Assembly.

Reversing its position of last week it killed the Chilsen bill, providing for the nomination of candidates for state offices and the drafting of party platforms at state party conventions, the assembly suspended all rules and passed the measure by a vote of 53 to 30.

A motion for reconsideration of the vote by which the bill has been killed was carried, 44 to 40, and the house then adopted an amendment offered by Mr. Chilsen, which exempts the Socialist and other smaller parties from the necessity of holding conventions. The bill was then engrossed, 48 to 37. If the senate concurs in the assembly's action, and Governor Philipp approves the measure, the Republican and Democratic parties will again hold party conventions prior to the primary election, which is not affected by the bill. County conventions at which delegates to the state meeting will be named will precede the state conventions.

508 Get Degrees at U. of W.

The war's effect upon the University of Wisconsin was shown when 508 members of the senior class were graduated at commencement exercises held in the agricultural pavilion.

With 1917 graduated since last June, the total number of graduates for 1918 is 607 as compared with 1,031 last year and 1,105 two years ago.

War diplomas were conferred upon 23 men of the class of 1919 who were in the service. Several have died in the service and their diplomas will be sent to their next of kin.

Among the 607 graduates, most of whom marched in cap and gown around the university campus and received their degrees from President M. A. Birge of the university, 391 were women, and 97 of those who received higher degrees were women.

New Language Bill.

By a vote of 20 to 4, the senate passed a new foreign language bill, introduced by the senate committee on legislative procedure, following a caucus of Republican senators. The bill, as messaged to the assembly for concurrence, prohibits the teaching of foreign languages in the public schools up to the eighth grade. It does not effect private or parochial schools as an amendment, offered by Senator Jennings, to make the measure apply to these institutions, was killed without a roll call. The four Socialists, Arnold, Beyer, Kleist and Zunnich were the only senators voting against the measure as it finally passed the senate.

Two Important Appointments.

Gov. E. L. Philipp messaged to the senate the appointment of Fred French, Milwaukee, to succeed F. M. Wilcox, as member of the state industrial commission for a term of six years at an annual salary of $5,000.

Ellen C. Sablin, president of Milwaukee-Dowder college, was appointed as a member of the state board of education to succeed Mrs. Mary Berger, wife of Victor L. Berger. This appointment is for four years and was confirmed by the senate.

Kills Last Income Tax Measure.

The last income tax bill of the session was killed in the assembly when the house, by a vote of 40 to 42, indefinitely postponed the C. B. Hansen measure. This bill did not provide as radical increases in rates as the Arnold income tax bill, which was defeated several days ago. It provided that on all taxable incomes in excess of $11,000 the rates should be 10 per cent.

Houses Commend Mrs. Hooper.

Mrs. Ben Hooper, Oshkosh woman suffering leader, was formally commended by senate and assembly, which adopted a joint resolution to the effect that "the legislature appreciates the persistent and courageous efforts of Mrs. Benjamin Hooper in behalf of women's suffrage."

Ex-Assemblyman Stroke Victim.

David Schreiner, former assemblyman from Grant county, is dead at Lancaster after a long illness. Mr. Schreiner was a veteran of the Civil war, in which he lost his right arm. He was a prominent Odd Fellow, and received high honors from the state councils.

Asks Lower Street Car Fare.

City Attorney Henry Ryan filed a petition with the railroad commission asking that the 6-cent fare of the Milwaukee Railway company be abolished and the old 5-cent rate established. Necessity for war emergency rates no longer exists, says Ryan.

Refused to Pass Over Veto.

The assembly refused to pass over the governor's veto the Klein bill giving the Milwaukee common council the power to fix the days of rest for police and the Burhop bill granting the powers to cities to engage in the milk and dairy business.

American War Veterans to Meet.

Col. John Turner, state chairman of the American War Veterans, the organization of Wisconsin veterans of all wars, has called a state convention of the body in Milwaukee, July 7 and 8. The purpose is to take up the matter of affiliation with the American Legion, the War Veterans having been represented by an elected delegation at the St. Louis convention in May to adopt the constitution and resolutions adopted by the American Legion, to elect officers, and to adopt a constitution.

Want an Experiment Station.

Representatives of the agricultural interests of Wisconsin in connection with the state plan to appeal to the Wisconsin legislature to present a memorial to congress asking that the buildings at Ononda be turned over to the state to be used as an agricultural school and experiment station. A delegation of farmers and agricultural agents of the counties inspected the building and found it to be suitable for the purpose. Land adjoining the building is desired for experimenting with crops.

Deny Rural Phone Rate Boost.

The railroad commission has denied the application of the Fond du Lac Rural Telephone company for authority to increase rates. This company serves about 400 rural subscribers around Fond du Lac. It has no exchange of its own but has its switching done at the exchanges of the Wisconsin Telephone company at Fond du Lac and North Fond du Lac. The commission finds the Fond du Lac Rural Telephone company has been able for the most part to earn 10 per cent on its investment.

SPIRIT DIRECTS FINDING OF BODY

Medium Is Asked to Dig in Cellar and Remains Are Found.

GHOST ADMITS DEED

Husband Excavates Under Direction of Spiritualistic Spouse While in France—Spirit Hands Choke Woman.

Milwaukee.—E. A. Marth created a sensation when he appeared at a police station and said his wife, hounded by the ghost of a man who said he had committed a murder, had found the body of the victim—a woman—in the basement of their house.

Mrs. Marth is a spiritualist medium. Marth told the police his wife had been visited nightly by the spirit of a physician. The spirit had awakened her so often by putting livid hands on her throat that she determined to hold a seance.

"Spirit" Asks Her to Dig.

She did so and was directed to dig at a certain spot in the cellar.

Marth told the police he made the excavation under her direction while she was in a trance and had discovered a box. He asked that the police remove the body of what he insisted was a murdered woman.

The police, scoffing, went to the house. They found the excavation and the box. They opened the box and discovered it to contain bones and quicklime.

The spiritual phase of the matter they are inclined not to discuss. But they believe the evidence of a crime has been told here by the medium and they are exerting efforts to reach a solution of it.

"It was an 'earth-bound spirit,'" Marth told the police, "that could not rest until it was relieved."

The property in Walnut street was bought by the Spiritualist church of Milwaukee about seven weeks ago. Marth and his family moved in shortly after. Immediately, he says, they were attacked every night by the hands of the spirit, which choked them.
